

COAL MINERS LAY OFF FOR 6 DAYS

ALL ARE DEAD IN CENTRALIA MINE TUNNEL

FINAL DEATH TOLL FROM EXPLOSION SET AT 111

BY ROGER LANE

Centralia, Ill., March 29. (AP)—Rescue squads, who braved dense gas and weakened mine walls in an almost fruitless four day search for survivors in an explosion-torn coal mine, completed their explorations today and announced the final death toll was 111.

"The search is over," said Driscoll A. Scanlan, state mine inspector who aided in directing the rescue efforts. "All the missing men are accounted for. All but one body has been found and we know now where that is and expect to bring it to the surface tonight."

As Centralia received the news it expected but dreaded—that only 31 of the 142 men underground had survived—John L. Lewis called on his 400,000 United Mine Workers to quit work from Tuesday, April 1 to Sunday, April 6, in memory of the 111 victims. The mine union chief said the government contract authorized such a period of mourning.

Worst Since 1928

The Centralia disaster is the worst of its kind in the nation since 195 miners perished in a similar tragedy at Mather, Pa., on May 19, 1928.

A coal mine rescue squad boss with a portable telephone set flashed the "Search completed—no additional survivors" message from a rubble-strewn tunnel 540 feet below ground.

William P. Young, vice president of the Centralia Coal company, owners of the mine, told newsmen when the rescue reached the surface, "All found, all dead."

However, rescue workers said they had not found the body of Clifford Copple, 42, of Centralia, and that they expected it was in a gas-filled chamber they had passed through. The gas was so dense in the chamber, they said, that he could not have survived. His death would make the final toll 111.

Since rescuers entered the shaft a few minutes after the blast at 2:27 p. m. (CST) Tuesday their task has been more of a hunt for bodies than a search for the living.

Liepert said that although the general explorations had ended, search for the remaining body would be continued by double crews sent down to clean up the mine and check its general condition. This work was started immediately.

Some of the last bodies discovered today were in what rescuers called one of the safest portions of the mine—a dead end passage some 2½ miles from the main shaft. Some slim hope had been voiced that the men in that lonely tunnel might have had more time to seal themselves in a side chamber before the rush of gas hit them.

There was no sign of any such barricade.

Saved By Shirt
Copple, an unusually tall man, was working with John Lorenzine, 41, known to fellow workers as "Peter Rabbit" because of his contrasting short stature, at the time of the blast. Lorenzine escaped by ripping off his shirt, soaking it in

Ministers Set Date To Map Fate Of Reich

BY WES GALLAGHER

Moscow, March 29. (AP)—Produced by Secretary Marshall, the foreign ministers agreed tonight to set dates to reach main bargaining decisions on the future of Germany.

Simultaneously the British sought four-power agreement on return of all war prisoners to Germany by Dec. 31, 1948.

Authoritative sources also disclosed that in a diplomatic side-show outside the ministers' conference Sir Maurice Peterson, the British ambassador, was conducting negotiations with the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky on revision of the British-Russian alliance.

The negotiations were a follow-up to the meeting between British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Prime Minister Stalin at the beginning of the week. Informants said that if a basis is reached for revising the present 20-year treaty against Germany dating from 1942, the recommendations would be put before Stalin and Bevin in another meeting before Bevin leaves Moscow.

In the shortest session of the conference to date, lasting only an hour, the ministers agreed to try to settle the heart of the German problem by discussing these main points in two blunderbuss sessions starting next Monday:

1. Germany as an economic unit, including reparations, and a review of the level of industry, including industrial demilitarization.

2. The form and scope of a provisional German government.

Failure to reach common ground on these questions would doom the success of the conference as far as Germany is concerned.

MURDER STORY
JUST MADE UP
Brutal Slaying Admitting To Scare Off Girl, Says Detroit Salesman

Detroit, March 29. (AP)—Small, meek-looking Stanley Anculewicz, held in connection with the brutal slaying of Lydia Thompson, today blamed his plight on a fanciful story intended to discourage his pretty, extra-marital girl friend.

The 33-year-old salesman of kitchenware was held without bond following his plea of innocence to a murder charge before Circuit Judge George S. Murphy, one-man grand juror who issued the warrant.

His was the third arrest this month in a case that has gone unsolved since the Russian-born Mrs. Thompson's body was found on a lonely lane near Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 13, 1945.

Her husband, wealthy Louis V. Thompson, 48, and his attractive, raven-haired second wife, Helen Budnik Thompson, 39, are awaiting examination April 9 on charges of first degree murder and conspiracy to murder. Both have protested their innocence.

Anculewicz was arrested on the strength of a statement given Judge Murphy by Mrs. Laura Riddle, 30.

Anculewicz told newsmen that he concocted a story of the Thompson slaying from what he had read of it in an effort to break off a relationship with Mrs. Riddle.

They met when he was a witness in her favor in a traffic case, he said, and he later borrowed $200 from her. She "hounded" him for it, he said.

Married and with three children, Anculewicz said he made up the story because "I had been trying to break off with Laura for some time" and hoped to frighten her away and return to his family.

Monroe Men Killed As Plane Crashes In Heavy Snowstorm

Auburn, Ind., March 29. (AP)—A light plane crashed north of here in a heavy snowstorm today, killing two men identified by flying cards as Milton C. Weber, 25, and his brother, Gerald, 21, both of Monroe, Mich.

The plane was demolished and wreckage was scattered for a distance of 200 feet, the nose being buried in the soft earth. It did not burn. The bodies were still in the cockpit.

Lester Monroe, a farmer, the first person to reach the wreckage, said both men were dead when he arrived. He said he heard the plane before it crashed and believed it was having motor trouble.

Coroner Kenneth Kaylor said it was not apparent which man was piloting the plane, which had dual controls.

The bodies were taken to the Swank Funeral Home at Ashley.

Customs Patrol Dies At Detroit; Canadian Border Is Wide Open

Detroit, March 29. (AP)—The "Big Gray Ghost" and the men of the border customs patrol who manned her and other patrol boats have given up their fight against rum runners and smugglers.

A budget cut has accomplished what battles and bullets failed to do for 23 years—swept the Detroit River and the Great Lakes of the customs border patrol.

At Detroit Saturday, 24 veterans of the border patrol reported to Capt. Joseph A. O'Rourke in the customs building to turn in their guns and badges. These mementoes of authority, a dozen fast boats, including the large bullet-ploughed "Big Gray Ghost," and 15 fast cars will be turned over to Martin R. Bradley, Detroit customs collector.

Capt. O'Rourke and his 24 veterans are the last of a force that at one time totaled 185 men with 48 boats and 85 cars. The force patrolled 2,000 miles of inland waterway, from Cleveland to the far reaches of Lake Superior and down the west coast of Michigan.

The House of Representatives has cut $3,500,000 from the customs appropriation and a year's furlough has been ordered for the patrol members.

"There is not a man in the bunch who has not been in jeopardy in shooting afays, in rescues and in lake storms time and time again," said Capt. O'Rourke.

The patrol was organized in 1924 when the Detroit River was alive with rum runners. The customs men relieved of their jobs Saturday are the survivors of speed boat battles on the rivers and lakes, of shootings, of rescues and of the lake storms.

These men and their fore-runners seized the "Big Gray Ghost" from smugglers and sent her 450 horsepower engine into attacks on armor-plated contraband runners.

They watched the winking signals at the rum runner starting points on the Canadian shores and went out to do battle with rifles and machine-guns. Some came back. Others died from bullets. Others drowned.

After rum running ceased to be profitable, the customs border patrol concentrated on halting the smuggling of gold, furs and aliens from Canada. The patrol has encountered only relatively "small time" rum runners in recent years.

"The border is going to be wide open again," commented one customs official sadly as he received news of the slash in the customs appropriation.

BUDGET SLASH WORRIES NAVY
Blow To Fleet Training Foreseen By Secretary James Forrestal

St. Louis, March 29. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal declared tonight that if Navy funds are cut below budget bureau figures the Navy's program and our naval strength would be seriously endangered.

Addressing the first annual convention of the Reserve Officers of the Naval Services (RONS), Forrestal said:

"The first naval estimates that we collected from the various bureaus of the navy total $8,800,000. The naval estimates that we sent to the bureau of the budget were scaled down to $5,600,000. That figure was cut by the budget bureau to $3,654,000. If it should be reduced below that minimum estimate our naval strength would be seriously endangered."

"Our ships will have to perform their global missions with crews substantially smaller than is essential for efficient operation. The education of reserves entering the regular line of the Navy, for which Congress and the Navy both made definite commitments, will have to be curtailed."

"We will have to cut deeply into the research program, with all that means in keeping the Navy up to date."

"Next, we shall have to cut down on fleet training, and this is probably the most serious impairment of all."

"And finally the entire naval reserve program will come in for sharp readjustment downward, including acute curtailment of the naval reserve flying program."

U. S. WARSHIPS VISIT EUROPE THIS SUMMER

FLEET WILL AVOID RUSSIA, STOP AT COPENHAGEN

Washington, March 29. (AP)—The Navy ordered two battleships and two carriers to northern Europe this summer on a training cruise which will stop short of any visit to Russian waters.

The nearest the warships will go to the Baltic Sea, where Russian influence is strong, will be Copenhagen, Denmark. The itinerary was announced without any explanation except that this is to be the first training cruise for naval academy midshipmen since before World War II.

Accompanying the battleships New Jersey and Wisconsin will be the Essex class carriers Kearsarge and Randolph, the destroyers Cane, Stribling, O'Hare and Meredith, and the Fort Mandan, a landing ship (dock).

The squadron will be commanded by Rear Admiral John Perry and will arrive in European waters about June 19 for a month's stay. Ports of call are to be Portsmouth, Weymouth, Plymouth, Greenwich and Woolwich in England, Rosyth in Scotland, Oslo in Norway, Goteborg in Sweden, and Copenhagen.

The cruise will follow by about two months the visit of another group of U. S. warships to Greek and Turkish waters, including the strategic Dardanelles over which Russia wants to share control with Turkey.

ST. LOUIS GIRL WINS ACQUITTAL

School Student, 14, Freed In Strange Death Of Her Father

BY TOM YARBROUGH

St. Louis, March 29. (AP)—Mary Catherine Reardon was acquitted by a juvenile court jury late today of a charge of delinquency by reason of murder in the death of her father, J. Vincent Deardon.

A slight ripple of hand-clapping from the crowded courtroom in the St. Louis county courthouse greeted the decision of the jury of seven women and five men, and the 14-year-old junior high school student received a brief lecture from Circuit Judge John A. Withaus who warned her not to consider herself "an important person" as a result of the case.

Mary thanked both the judge and the jury, telling the jurors, "I knew I could not possibly be convicted of something I hadn't done."

The girl was smiling as she was escorted from the courtroom by her uncle, James A. Reardon, and Defense Attorney Frank E. Williams. Williams said he would petition probate court to appoint a guardian for Mary, heir to 40 percent of her father's estate.

The wealthy St. Louis paint manufacturer died under strange circumstances early Feb. 8 as he was bringing Mary and her 13-year-old companion, Michael D'Arcy, home from a runaway escapade on which they had spent the night in a tourist cabin.

Sigler Is Accused By UAW Officials Of Smear Campaign

DETROIT, MICH., MARCH 29 (AP)—

Three officials of the CIO United Auto Workers today expanded on their denials of Gov. Sigler's charges they were "captives of the Communists party" and accused the governor of a smear campaign designed to "detract from the impending demands" of union workers.

In a prepared statement, George F. Addes, international secretary-treasurer; R. J. Thomas, international vice-president and Richard T. Leonard, international vice-president, declared:

"The only thing that is really 'red' in this picture is the reliable old herring which is being dragged out for use in the current wage situation—a red herring to be substituted for food, clothing and housing for the citizens of Michigan."

At the same time, August Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO council, denied it was he whom Sigler referred to Friday when he charged Thomas had attempted to "bring about the dismissal of a prominent CIO official who is an out-spoken, two-fisted opponent of Communism."

Terming Sigler's testimony before the House committee on un-American affairs "malicious," the statement pointed out that a "campaign x x x is well under way" against raise-seeking UAW-CIO members.

"The bosses are pulling the strings and their political puppets are jumping," the union officials said.

Earlier, UAW President Walter P. Reuther described Sigler's testimony as "part of the current all-out drive which organized reaction has launched against labor and liberal forces in this country."

Reuther, who has an anti-Communist reputation, said the CIO is "just as vigorously opposed to Republican party influence in our internal affairs" as it is to "Communist interference in our union."

Opposition to Sigler's Washington report also came in the form of a resolution from the UAW Ford council, headed by Leonard. "Not only labor but the democratic way of life of all Michigan citizens" is threatened by the governor's testimony," said the council.

State Senator Stanley Novak, described by the governor as a "Communist worker and sympathizer," has made no comment on the charge.

CHICAGO ELECTS
MAYOR TUESDAY
Vote Will Be Test Of Party Strength For 1948 Campaign

Chicago, March 29. (AP)—Chicago will select a new mayor Tuesday in an election which the Republican high command regards as an important tactical skirmish leading to the next year's presidential battles.

The contest in Mayor Edward J. Kelly's Democratic stronghold will have national interest because:

1.—It will be the first major test of the party strength in the nation since the 1946 congressional vote.

2.—The outcome could determine which way the state's 28 electoral votes would go in the 1948 presidential race.

After 14 years in the mayor's chair, Kelly stepped aside this year to support Martin J. Kennedy, 59-year-old business man making his first bid for elective public office. Kennedy will oppose Russell W. Root, 48-year-old lawyer, who is supported by Gov. Dwight H. Green's Republican organization.

Root, who as Cook County Republican chairman directed his party to a lop-sided victory over Kelly's Democratic organization last fall, has made an issue of the Truman administration's handling of foreign affairs, in the closing weeks of a lively campaign.

Armed Bandits Get
$9,500 In Detroit;
Assistant Slugged

Detroit, March 29. (AP)—Three armed robbers escaped with $9,500 from the Sunshine Biscuit Co. here today after slugging an assistant manager.

The bandits held two clerks and the assistant manager, Al Tooker, 36, at bay with revolvers while they looted the cashier's cage. One of the three men, slugged Tooker over the head with a gun butt as he turned his head to watch them leave.

Lawrence Inman, 51, office manager, said the loot of $9,500 in cash and $4,300 in checks was being prepared for delivery to a bank by armored car.

The bandits, two of them masked, were described as between 19 and 20 years of age.

LEWIS ORDERS MOURNING FOR APRIL 1 WEEK

REMOVAL OF KRUG IS DEMANDED BY UMW CHIEF

BY NORMAN WALKER

Washington March 29. (AP)—John L. Lewis today called a six-day work stoppage in the soft coal mines in mourning for the Centralia disaster victims starting April 1—the date he had set for a strike until the Supreme Court stopped him.

He also demanded the ouster of Secretary of the Interior Krug on the ground of "criminal negligence" in regard to enforcing safety rules.

Lewis' order to the 400,000 members of the United Mine Workers union called it "a sacred coincidence that the greater part of this designated period of mourning will be during 'Holy Week.'"

But Senator Ball (R-Minn.) commented that "in the present condition of the world, I think it's an extremely inappropriate memorial." He added that "it certainly demonstrates against the power of one man—if he can do it."

Men Lose Pay
The nationwide shutdown next Tuesday through Sunday will cost an estimated 10,000,000 tons of coal production. The miners who observe it will draw no pay.

Lewis told a news conference that the shutdown will not violate the Supreme Court order which directed him to withdraw his notice "terminating" his contract with the government—no such notice again as long as the government operates the mines.

He said the memorial shutdown is authorized under a provision of his 1941 contract with the private operators which is carried forward in the government pact. It reads:

"The International Union, United Mine Workers of America, may designate memorial periods providing it shall give proper notice to each district."

Government officials were unavailable for comment immediately.

In calling the shutdown, Lewis commented that "at least no more men will die during the mourning period. They will be safe for that time anyway."

Safety Rules Flouted
His action followed the discovery during the day of all but one of the remaining bodies of the 111 miners killed in an explosion Tuesday at the Centralia (Ill.) Coal Co.

Lewis made public a letter from R. R. Sayers, director of the Bureau of Mines, a branch of Krug's Interior Department, saying that in 3,345 Federal mine inspections in 1946 only two mines were found "complying entirely" with Federal safety regulations.

Sayers wrote that the average mine was found to have 27 separate safety rule violations. Lewis said that by multiplying the 3,345 inspections and the 27 violations average, it could be seen there were 90,315 violations of safety rules in 1946.

Safety regulations were made more stringent on July 29, 1946, by a new Federal mine safety (Continued on Page Ten)

DAVID WEBERG DIES IN FIRE

Nahma War Veteran Is Burned To Death;
Chum Injured

David A. Webberg, 26, of Nahma, a veteran of World War II, was burned to death early yesterday morning in a small cabin near Nahma, and Emery Menary, 23, suffered burns on his hands and face in efforts to rescue his friend.

Officers of the sheriff's department who investigated the accident said they received a telephone call of the tragedy from Nahma at 3:15 a. m. and that D. A. Webberg the cabin was still burning when they arrived at 3:45 o'clock.

Webberg's body was partly on the bed and was burned beyond recognition. The small log cabin was located about three-quarters of a mile north of Nahma on the county road leading to the village from Nahma Junction.

Officers said Menary told them that he heard Webberg call to him and that when he awoke the cabin was in flames. He attempted to rescue Webberg but was driven out, his face and hands burned. Menary was given first aid treatment at Nahma and then was taken to the hospital in Escanaba by Claude Tobin. He was released following treatment.

After his unsuccessful effort to rescue Webberg, Menary ran to Nahma in his bare feet, where he notified Henry Goulin of the tragedy.

Officers said they believe the fire started from an overheated stove. Both men were reported to have been employed by the Bay de Noquet Lumber company.

David A. Webberg was born in Escanaba, February 27, 1921, and spent most of his life in Nahma. He enlisted in the service in July, 1942, and as a Private First Class in Company K, 377 Infantry, 95th Division, served in France and Germany. He was taken a prisoner by Germany in the Battle of Metz and was held for six months in a prison camp. He received his discharge from the service in November, 1945.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Mercier, of Nahma; two brothers and two sisters: Grover and James Webberg, of Nahma; Mrs. William Persawich, of Chicago; and Luella Webberg, of Marquette; and three step-brothers, Frank, Arnold and Albert Mercier, of Nahma.

The body will be in state at the Alto funeral home Monday evening. Services will be held Tuesday morning at St. Andrew's church in Nahma. Rev. Thompson officiating, and burial will be in Ogontz cemetery. Military rites will be conducted by Cloverland Post of the American Legion.

Troop 444 Qualifies In First Aid Meet

Troop 444, Boy Scouts of America, of Escanaba, placed three first aid teams in the Red Buck contest, which is scheduled to be held April 21, after completing their neighborhood contest, held yesterday at the Junior high school. All teams scored a rating of "A", which is 90% or better.

Teams participating were: Pine Tree Patrol—Conrad Desilets, Brian Corcoran, David Gasman, Jerry Olson, Jack Corcoran, and John Nelson. The Wolverine Patrol—David Zerbel, Bob St. Martin, Conrad Lucke, Ralph Sivertson, Robert Richards, David Mason, and Douglas Bradford. The Eagle Patrol—Warren Johnston, Alfred Dufour, Paul Brian, Peter Brian, Richard Deans, Albert Villeneuve, and Dick Wellman. Patients for the contests were: Ronald Nelson, Roderick McGillis, Don McLaughlin, and Arnold Johnson.

Personnel for the contest included as judges: Dr. Rudolph Erickson, Albin Carlson, and R. C. Shaw; recording doctor, Rev. James Bell; problem reader and timekeeper, Louis Hildebrand; scoring recorder and floor manager, Clarence Zerbel.

This contest of first aid was based upon the rank of first class requirements in first aid. These included such knowledge as, abrasions, fractures, shock, asphyxiation, artificial respiration, etc. The district contest, which is the next in order, will include the merit badge of first aid, as prescribed for Scouting.

CRUSHER OPENS LOCAL HARBOR

Stiff North Wind Moves
Ice Into Lake; Tugs
May Be Freed

Aided by a stout north wind which is carrying the ice in Little Bay de Noc into Lake Michigan, the ice crusher Mackinaw of the U. S. Coast Guard yesterday virtually completed the chore of opening the Escanaba harbor to navigation.

The Mackinaw plowed briskly through the heavy ice throughout the day yesterday, carving a wide channel of open water to the docks and North Western ore docks. The ice floes also moved out from the mouth of the Escanaba yacht harbor and commercial fishermen may dynamite the ice in the yacht harbor in order to free their fishtraps and get them back into service at a time when the demand for fish is heavy and the prices are high.

Up to late yesterday afternoon, the Mackinaw had not gone to Kipling to open the upper part of Bay de Noc but veteran observers predicted that the bay would quickly clear of ice if the strong north wind continued.

The shore ice is reported to be soft and with open water in the channel, it is anticipated that the ice will move out rapidly from

2 FISHERMEN ARE RESCUED

Mackinaw Picks Up Men,
Vehicle Stranded On
Drifting Ice Floe

Thanks to some fast work on the part of the Coast Guard and its ice breaker Mackinaw, two Escanaba fishermen, William Ward, 210 Ogden avenue, and Lloyd Carlson, South 11th street, were rescued late yesterday afternoon from an ice floe in the bay off Escanaba.

Ward and Carlson went fishing after lunch, yesterday, driving a Snowmobile vehicle onto the ice. All went well for awhile until the ice cracked from Portage to the mouth of the yacht harbor and extending to the Escanaba crib.

Employees at WDBC, Escanaba radio station, at the tip of Sand Point, came in for a share of the credit when, first to notice, the stranded men, they notified the Coast Guard. Capt. Dan Garrett dispatched a skiff in the widening gap between the ice floe and shore.

Ice Went Out Suddenly
By the time the skiff had arrived at the scene, however, the men had hopped into their snowmobile and taken off for the Mackinaw out in the bay. By this time, the breach had widened to approximately 75 feet.

The skiff was dispatched after the Coast Guard had telephoned its Plum Island station by long distance telephone and the latter station had contacted the Mackinaw by radio telephone. It stood by to rescue the men.

"The ice went out very suddenly," Captain Garrett reported. "It broke all at once along a distance of about two and one half miles, and the entire broken field of ice must have been more than two square miles."

Meanwhile, scores of spectators had lined up along the shore to the shore to be carried out into Lake Michigan.

The operations of the Mackinaw were viewed throughout the day yesterday by crowds of motorists who lined the shoreline and marveled at the ease with which the powerful ice crusher moved through the field of solid ice.

$150 Worth Of Fish
"They really made speed in that snowmobile," Captain Garrett related. "They had about a mile and a half to go to reach the Mackinaw, and they didn't waste any time."

Upon reaching the Mackinaw, the main difficulty had been overcome. They were taken aboard, and the vehicle was hoisted on deck without mishap. The ship proceeded first to the ore dock and then went alongside the Rear coal dock inside the slip, where the men went ashore none the worse for the experience.

In fact, the experience wasn't a bit disheartening. Before the ice broke, Ward and Carlson hauled in $150 worth of fish.

Former Escanaba Resident Stricken At Waucedah, Mich.

Axel Anderson, 80, of Waucedah, former resident of Escanaba, died at 5 p. m. Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Esther Magnusson, after an illness of two months. He was born May 3, 1866, in Skane, Sweden, and came to the United States in 1905, first settling at Hermansville. He moved to Escanaba in 1913 and lived here until he went to Waucedah to live with his daughter in 1937. His wife died in 1922. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Magnusson and Miss Ruth Anderson of Waucedah; two sons, August Anderson of Oshkosh and Ragnar of Detroit; two grandchildren and a brother in Sweden.

Mr. Anderson was a member of the North Star lodge and of the Bethany Lutheran church while in Escanaba.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home and will lie in state Monday afternoon. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Gustav Lund of Bethany Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Veterans Hospital
Job Opens In June

Iron Mountain — Although previously announced for April 15, or thereabouts, ground for the new Veterans hospital in Iron Mountain will be broken some time in June, and preparations are already underway for a public ceremony and program, commemorating the occasion, it was announced here by Ivar Anderson, mayor.

Information about the start of work came to Mayor Anderson in a letter from Col. J. O. Colonna, district engineer for the War Department's Engineering Corps, at Milwaukee.

Mayor Anderson said today that the Iron Mountain - Kingsford chamber of commerce has volunteered to work with city officials in the ground-breaking ceremony, and that preparations will be started at once.

Importance Of Judge In Human Relations Emphasized At Dinner

The human problems encountered by a judge on the bench are far and away more important than the questions of legal technicalities and procedure, Glenn W. Jackson, candidate for circuit court judge in the April 7th elections, told the township workers of the Jackson for Judge organization at a banquet held last night at the House of Ludington.

Particularly, Mr. Jackson emphasized the human elements which must be considered in divorce suits and suits involving the custody of children, and in the consideration individually of each offender against the criminal law.

Other Speakers
Introduced by Ollie Thatcher, toastmaster, the other speakers on the program emphasized the importance of the character of the judge upon the bench, and his influence, directly or indirectly, upon the lives of each individual in the community, a point dramatically brought out in a talk by Wheaton R. Strom.

The importance of the Delta county vote was also stressed, and the necessity for further efforts to bring it out. Dennis McGinn, Escanaba attorney, and J. Clyde McGonagle, Delta county prosecutor, stressed these points in their talks to the workers, McGinn giving them the results of his numerous field trips, and McGonagle pointing out specifically and clearly the various methods that the spring election could be won or lost in any one individual township in Delta county. McGonagle went on to list the methods which could and would be used to bring the vote to the polls.

Cases in Chancery
James R. Fitzharris, Escanaba attorney, spoke upon the growing importance of the courts in chancery, before which are tried cases involving divorce or custody of minor children, contracts, clearances of title, and other matters intimately affecting the lives of every citizen. In chancery, Fitzharris said, cases are usually tried without a jury, and the character and wisdom of the presiding judge is of paramount importance.

William E. Miron, Delta county sheriff and township chairman for the Jackson for Judge committee, thanked the township workers for their efforts during the primary elections and expressed assurance of their further efforts.

Rev. Father Sebastian Maier gave the invocation; Rev. L. R. Lund gave the benediction.

Two Cars Stolen; One Is Abandoned

Delta county sheriff's officers yesterday were trying to piece together evidence which indicated that a thief had stolen one car near Gladstone and then abandoned it and stole another near Escanaba when the first car became stuck on the road.

Leo King of Gladstone Rt. 1 reported to officers early this morning that his car had been stolen during the night from in front of his house. At the Flat Rock cemetery near his place he found a car which had become stuck in the road and abandoned.

The abandoned car, officers said, was owned by Edward Peron of Escanaba Rt. 1, who reported that his car was stolen from his garage.

The officers said they had not yet recovered, or had a report that the King car had been found.

War Vets Better Students At Beloit

Beloit, Wis.—If grades are any indication—and they usually are—war veterans are better students than non-veterans when it comes to college students.

Dean H. H. Conwell of Beloit says figures released after a study in Beloit College show the veterans with four-hundredths of a grade point higher than non-veterans. The study was based on first semester work in the current school year of the 900 enrollees.

The grade point average of 332 veterans was 1.51 while the entire student body average was 1.47 for men and women. The non-veteran men averaged 1.46 grade points.

PLATINUMS ARE NOT DUTIABLE

Silver Fox Farmers Of U. S. Fear Heavy Fur Imports

Wausau, Wis.—The U. S. solicitor general has authorized an appeal from the recent ruling of the U. S. Customs Court that platinum silver foxes are not silver or black foxes and are not dutiable under the 37½ per cent tariff.

This was announced here by Dr. L. J. O'Reilly, president of the American National Fur Breeders association.

The court ruled in favor of Olmar Brager-Larsen in the latter's action against the government for a refund of duties paid on imported Norwegian platinum silver fox furs. The suit was instituted after the collector of customs in 1940 ruled that platinum fox skins were silver fox skins and as such were subject to import quota regulations and the tariff.

Dr. O'Reilly said, "I am informed by Charles Gold, New York, the association's counsel, that the government's notice of appeal has already been filed, and we have instructed him to cooperate with the government in every way possible."

Rapid River School Program Includes Classes In Health

Students of Rapid River schools, both elementary and high, are integrating health studies of various practical types with their regular studies under the direction of faculty members who constitute the committee for this program of education endorsed by the State Health department.

Nutrition studies including dietary work and pure food investigations and health in daily living find their place in classroom work. Posters, reports to the various classes and preparation of diets for the school hot lunch program forms the nucleus of the project.

Monday night the Parent-Teacher association of the school will hold a meeting which will feature moving pictures on nutrition, demonstration of some of the work done by the students and an informative lecture by Miss Jeanette Simmons of the State Health department office here.

The meeting will climax a two-week period of intensive health studies coordinated with scholastic endeavor.

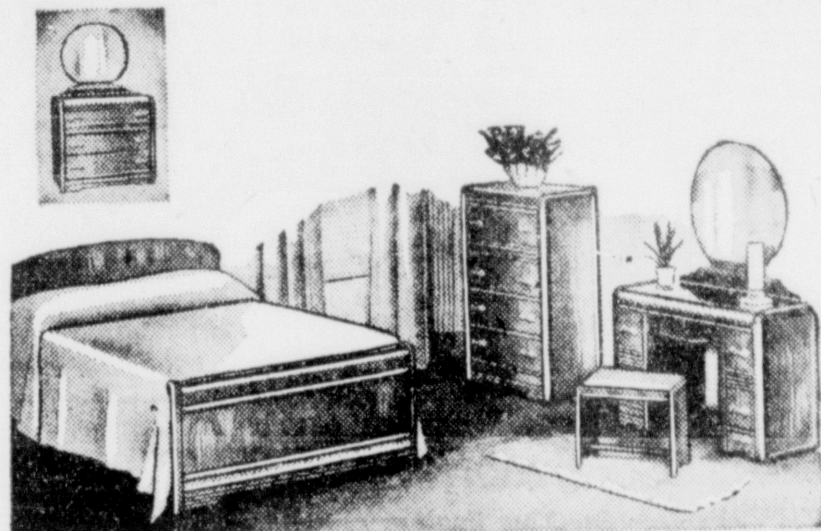

Faculty members comprising the committee are Mrs. Mildred Ranguette, Mrs. Zola Beauchamp, Mrs. Anne Stude, Miss Loretta McCarthy and Mr. Norman Slough.

Other members of the fellowship committee are Rotarians Jay Niver, A. J. Young, Con Driscoll, James Fitzharris and Roy B. Johnson.

Rotarians, Ladies To Banquet Monday

Members of the Escanaba Rotary club and their ladies will banquet at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening in the dining room of the Delta hotel in the club's ladies night program being arranged by the fellowship committee, with Frank Andrew chairman.

The program, arranged by E. A. Wenner, and District Governor Harold Lindsay, will be marked by the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. William Ainsworth who will discuss "The Lighter Side of Rotary."

Gasoline Tax Increase?

THE proposal for a two cent increase in the state gasoline tax, which would boost the tax on gasoline to five cents a gallon is being vigorously promoted in Lansing as a means of providing additional revenue for the state highway department, the county road commissions and for local governments.

The proposed gasoline tax increase, however, will not help to solve the state's critical financial problem. It is only logical that the gasoline tax bill be studied in connection with the general tax program as a method of preventing piecemeal tax legislation which would only complicate the state's already entangled tax program.

Just how much additional taxes the public will have to pay to meet the state's financial problem, created by the sales tax diversion amendment and the soldiers bonus, certainly will have a bearing on whether an increase in the gasoline tax should be voted to provide more revenue for other units of state and county governments.

The important thing is to solve the state's financial problem first. The gasoline tax increase proposal should be referred to the house committee on general taxation and by all means, the proposal should be subjected to public hearings.

Green Light for Pro Ball

THE development of professional baseball in the Upper Peninsula was given the green light this week by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which has announced that it will approve the entry of a U. P. league into organized minor league baseball in 1948.

If professional baseball is to be developed in Northern Michigan for the 1948 season, it is imperative that the formation of the league be accomplished this year. Only organized baseball, launched on a professional basis, can return the national game to its proper level of development in the Upper Peninsula.

A careful study of the situation reveals conclusively that professional baseball would succeed and would almost certainly reach great heights of popularity and enthusiasm in the Upper Peninsula.

Sufficient interest has already been developed in Escanaba to guarantee the formation and financing of a local club in the proposed league. The job still remaining to be done is to encourage other cities of comparable size in the peninsula to join in the movement.

No. 1 U. S. Problem

GEORGE WELSH of Grand Rapids, president of the United States Conference of Mayors, emphasized the nation's most critical domestic problem, the need for adequate housing, in a visit to President Truman Friday.

The national housing program has been a dismal failure. As Welsh pointed out to the president, the critical housing situation is causing growing unrest in the United States. It is a problem that we cannot ignore and cast aside while we pour our national wealth to combat unrest in Europe and other countries of the globe.

The imperative need is homes, lots of homes—and low cost homes. They are needed just as rapidly as they can be provided.

It's Getting Serious

PRICES are going up, and shouts of protests from one end to the other are rapidly becoming a torrent with which our political leaders are increasingly concerned. Responsible business circles are as much concerned over the situation as are those on whom the price spiral bears the hardest.

James D. Mooney, president of Willys-Overland Motors, says that management has made the mistake of overconcern about direct labor costs and has neglected overhead costs. "Managements saves money by installing more efficient machines, but we are doing such poor production planning that the machines are idle half the time," he said.

Mr. Mooney said that with the five-day week, industry utilizes only 160 out of a possible 720 hours per month. He added that when the whole country is crying for goods, it doesn't make sense to use only 22 per cent of our capacity, and that there is entirely too much waste through idle time. He said that if prices go much higher, manufacturers will be unable to sell their goods.

"Price reductions must be made," said Emil Schram, president of the New York stock exchange. "The public will never understand the huge profits being piled up while prices are so high that millions of buyers are priced out of the market." He cited figures showing the 1946 profits of 50 consumer-goods corporations who, he said, could not justify these profits.

And Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's economic advisory council, warns industrialists that failure to reduce prices, while piling up tremendous profits, is tempting another big wage increase and making the crash of the inflation spiral inevitable. Nourse added that the spirit of getting while the getting is good is doing everything possible to dig the grave of private business enterprise in this country.

Meanwhile, price reductions would be of far more benefit to the national economy that wage increases accompanied by still further price increases, says the Michigan Manufacturer.

Slavery In Russia

PEOPLE who think that slavery disappeared from the world after the Civil War should read the April issue of the Reader's Digest. There they will find the truth about Soviet Russia's 14 million slaves, as told in a book just being published by the Yale University Press, "Nothing But Their Chains."

"The revival of human slavery in Russia is one of the most stupendous and shocking events of modern times," says Max Eastman, in a condensation of the book. "Hitler attempted this on the ancient Roman plan, enslaving aliens or supposedly inferior races. Stalin, however, who does not believe in racial inequality, has enslaved his own fellow citizens, as well as people from other nations, on a scale not seen before in all history."

There are today, according to the book's authors, not less than 14 million slaves in the forced-labor empire of the Soviet Union, and the number may be as high as 20 million. They live in corrals surrounded by stockades topped with barbed wire, watched day and night by riflemen in turrets with powerful searchlights and packs of dogs to pursue runaways. They do the heaviest and most grueling labor—mining, lumbering, forest clearing, constructing roads, railways, canals, airdromes and factories.

These Soviet slaves cost their owner, the Ministry of Interior Affairs, nothing. They are picked up on the streets or dragged out of their beds at night. Permanently enslaved, they number more than those workers who were temporarily unemployed in the United States in the most desperate year of the depression. What they endure, how they live and too often die and are replaced by other slaves, is a terrible tale of man's inhumanity to man.

Other Editorial Comments

TAX ON COPPER IMPORTS

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Rep. John Bennett, Ontonagon Republican, is a cagey guardian of the Northern Peninsula's copper industry.

Knowing what low-tariff copper can do to the Copper Country's economy, Congressman Bennett, representing the 12th Michigan district at Washington, made it plain that he wanted a year's limit on the time copper can be imported into the United States without excise tax.

While voting for a House-approved bill to suspend for two years the excise tax on copper amounting to four cents a pound, he personally favors a suspension only to June 30, 1948.

The House action was taken because of the "serious shortage" of copper now.

However, Bennett pointed out, the Northern Peninsula Copper Country must have protection against the importation of cheap copper except on a temporary basis. People of Bennett's district know from bitter experience the devastating effect imports of low-tariff copper can have on the Copper Country's economy.

Cheap copper from foreign lands virtually wiped out the industry in the Copper Country and was the direct cause of prolonged unemployment. While we have copper we should give our workers a chance to produce it, even if it costs more because our workers are entitled to it; they're setting the pace for higher standards of living in the world.

ON RIGHT TRACK

(Marquette Mining Journal)

Alvin E. Richards, Marquette county's representative in the state legislature, has introduced bills calling for changes in local taxation and assessment procedures that should be favored by legislators and county officials.

His purpose is to bring order to the task of levying and allocating the property tax. Under the present system the assessment deadline is April 1; the allocation for county, city and schools is made in May, and equalization at the county level is done in June. Thus, when allocations are made, county tax allocation boards actually aren't sure what funds will be available.

The Richards bills provide for spreading the tax roll in January, instead of April, and advancing the equalization date to April. If these two changes were made the allocation boards would have a definite, instead of a tentative, basis on which to work in May.

These proposals are based on recommendations of Louis M. Nims, chairman of the state tax commission, and on Richards' own experience as a former tax commissioner. They are among the state's most needed tax reforms and certainly would be incorporated into any general revision of Michigan tax laws; but since there is still no indication that a complete overhauling is to be expected within the immediate future, there is no reason to put off adoption of them.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Q. Please tell us how to pronounce the names of the president and the premier of France.—O. M.

A. The president of France is properly known as Le President de la Republique. He is Vincent Auriol. The French pronunciation of Vincent is extremely difficult to show by means of English phonetic spelling. Both syllables have the French nasal sound which has no equivalent in English, and which in Colby Phonetic Spelling is indicated by the symbol (n) which means "nasal." In the first syllable of Vincent the vowel sound is flat "a" as in "vat." The vowel sound of the second

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — We are beginning to see the consequences of meat-axe economy. We are getting policy legislation by way of crippling budgetary cuts. It is a miscalculated to produce the utmost confusion and uncertainty.

The first victim to come off the house operating table is the Department of Labor. On the surface it looks as though the cut in that department's appropriation was reasonable enough. The appropriation requested was, in round numbers, $103,000,000 and the cut was nearly $13,000,000. But when you examine the figures more closely, the real nature of this reduction becomes evident.

Of the total amount asked for the labor department, $71,228,000 goes to the states to pay for state employment services. It pays jobholders in the states. This entire amount was approved by the House Appropriations committee. So the cut of nearly $13,000,000 comes out of the $32,000,000 which the Department of Labor asked for its normal operation.

—BUREAU WAS HARD HIT—

As a taxpayer you may think, "well, what of it?" There are too many government employees anyway." The Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Labor Department was cut originally 40 per cent, and then another 20 per cent cut was added on the floor of the house. The BLS may seem a pretty remote little segment of the bureaucracy, and therefore the average citizen won't give much thought to this example of the way the meat axe works.

Actually the BLS is tied into the nation's industrial economy very closely. The cost-of-living index compiled by BLS is relied upon in hundreds of union contracts to determine when wages shall go up in accord with increases in the cost of food and rent.

The operating organization of the U. S. employment service was cut 80 per cent. The heaviest slash fell on that part of the service charged with seeing that federal funds going to the states for welfare purposes are spent under certain non-political standards. Here, too, it looks as though Congress was perfectly willing to let the states do what they want with money out of the federal till.

The idea of withholding funds from the conciliation service in order to get rid of Edgar L. Warren, head of the service, is the wrong way to go about the kind of change, if the change should be made. Experts outside the government have recently testified to improvements in the service which Warren has brought about during the past year. If he is to be fired because of the color of his hair or the kind of neckties he wears, he should at least be given a chance to state his case.

With 5300 back cases to be cleared, the National Labor Relations Board has had its appropriation cut in half. This means that plans to clean up back cases will go overboard and that the present staff will be cut. It is one way to emasculate the Wagner Labor Relations act without ever voting on it.

—TABER DEMANDS ECONOMY—

The chief mover in this economy drive is Chairman John Taber of the House Appropriations committee. Even those government officials who have felt the full force of Taber's angry bark respect his integrity. They recognize his honesty of purpose.

Taber is trying to cut the government back to the scale of an earlier America. In that earlier America, economic power was not centralized to anything like the degree it is today. We were still relatively isolated from the rest of the world.

It might be highly desirable to go back to that earlier America. Thinking back to that time, we remember it as a simpler era when values were not confused and complicated as they are today. But it is fairly obvious that we can't go back to it merely by cutting the government in half. The centralized economic power would still be there. So would the tangled skein of our relationship with other nations and other peoples.

The effort to cut the government down to the scale of that earlier America can produce disastrous consequences in our highly complex, industrialized society. We now have a debt of $260,000,000,000. That cannot be reduced by saving on government candle-ends. It can be met and reduced only in a flourishing, expanding economy in which government is recognized as having a definite place.

syllable is "ah." The "i" is silent. Vincent, then, is pronounced: va(n)-sah(n). The first syllable of Auriol resembles the word "ore." The second syllable is like "yawl", thus: ore-yawl.

The new premier, more properly titled Le President du Conseil des Ministres, is Paul Ramadier, a 59-year-old economist and lawyer. His name is much easier on the American tongue; it's pawl-ra-ma-dyay (dyay is like "yay" preceded by the sound of "d").

Q. Has the Biblical name Job a meaning?—Dr. W. H. S.

A. Yes; it is from the Hebrew Iyyobh, meaning "afflicted, persecuted." Job, of course, rhymes with "robe." It has no connection with the English word "job," which rhymes with "rob."

Q. I notice that some newscasters and commentators pronounce Senator Robert A. Taft's surname as "taht." Is this correct?—R. A. L.

A. No. Senator Taft assures me in a recent letter that the accepted pronunciation of his family name is "taft" with a flat "a."

Also, I notice that many broadcasters, in referring to Bernard M. Baruch, are giving Bernard the British pronunciation "BER-nerd." This is not correct. Here is an exact quotation from a letter addressed to me last July by Mr. Baruch: "The pronunciation of my first name is with the accent on the second syllable—bur-NAHRD."

They Both Could Get Along Faster

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

DOORWAY TO HEAVEN—The cold March wind whipped around corners and tugged at the mail man's coat tails. He looked just as he always had—yet he was a messenger from Paradise.

For when he stopped at our house the other day he left a seed catalog in the mail box. And everybody who likes to grow a flower or vegetable garden knows that a seed catalog is (at least in the month of March) the doorway to Heaven.

Gardening in March, with a seed catalog to stimulate your thought, is one of the most pleasant pastimes ever presented a common mortal. March gardening, you know is that sweet time of preparation, when the amateur gardener exercises only his fingers in turning the pages of the seed catalog—and leaves the heavy work in his imagination.

GENTLEMEN AT EASE —One seed catalog, plus an easy chair and leisure to peruse the catalog while in a comfortably spring-federated condition, can make even the most hectic-colored tomato believable.

There is such hope and happiness in looking at squash pictured as large as basketballs, tomatoes like balloons, and flowers that are completely out of this world in size and coloring. Half-reclining in a chair, the dream of next summer's garden becomes impossibly perfect, ecstatically exciting.

There is no thought of blistered hands, aching backs or cabbage worms. Only the fair and lovely flowers and vegetables that glow synthetically from the catalog page can induce such disregard of facts. If they serve no other purpose, the seed catalog makes dream-eyed optimists of even the most disgruntled husband.

ALL SOLID PURPOSE—Gardening is not a matter of the soil alone. There is more to it than seed bed preparation, compost heaps, fertilizer and weed pulling.

A garden is born in the mind, is nourished by a seed catalog, and is watered with imagination. It takes root in the soul, and is brought to bloom by the exercise of will power.

It has to be so. For who but a person imbued with solid purpose would have the fortitude to risk annual disappointment and the gibes of friends who prefer golf to galliard? tennis to turnips? or poker to petunias?

The gardener then is simply a heaving mass of will power, dedicated to soulful drudgery, and immune to the critics who look only upon practical results.

PURE GOLD —The garden planner is, at this season of the year, in an optimistic dither. If he acts like an absent-minded professor—he is.

His thoughts are far ahead of the present. He is wondering if the tulip bulbs he planted last fall will bloom or not, whether the larkspur will flower for him as it does in the seed catalog, and whether he shouldn't plant the string beans three feet closer to the fence. His mind is a whirling montage of beet red, cosmo pink, and spinach green—and his fingers are twitching to feel the good earth.

The future is filled with golden

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

New York—The Easter morning killer who struck three times in the apartment of Veronica Gideon, shapely artist's model, left his bloody fingerprints behind.

With Edward Stratton as discussion leader on the subject of "Capital Punishment," the Escanaba Community Forum meeting last evening at the city hall developed into a discussion in which a large part of the audience entered freely.

Katherine Cornells contribution to the American theater brought her a signal honor at the White House tonight—the national achievement award.

The smelt run in Delta county streams is definitely on.

Twenty Years Ago

Washington — Formulation of American policy for exaction of indemnity for the Nanking outrages and for guarantees against similar attacks upon Americans elsewhere in China, appeared tonight to be probable purport of prolonged conferences at the White House and state department.

Prof. Leonard S. Smith, of the University of Wisconsin, outlined to a large Chamber of Commerce Forum crowd last night, a practical and comparatively inexpensive plan for restoring the Ludington park bathing beach, by closing a gap in the sandbar which projects outward from Sand Point and dredging inside the bar.

Harold F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator and sportsman, today lost in his last effort to avoid sentence being imposed on him in the District of Columbia supreme court for contempt of the senate.

"The Church and the Newspaper," was the subject of an address delivered at the monthly First Methodist Episcopal church last night.

promise. Last year's onion magnets are forgotten.

THERE IS NO BLIGHT—In this happy period of the season, when thought is edsy and little energy is needed to turn the garden blooms in Ferris and Burpee technical color.

Out-size tomatoes, bursting with vitamins and blushing in their own uncoerced candor, are pictured with the alluring tenderness of a harem favorite perched on a plush cushion.

String beans, pole beans, and wax beans clamber in succulent profusion through a jungle of green foliage. Carrots a foot long glow like country-fresh butter, and contrast their warmth with the cool elegance of unwary cucumbers.

In the seed catalog's Garden of Eden no serpenty worm rears its ugly head, and blight—either late or early—is unheard of.

FLOWERS IN PROFUSION—The flowers that grow in the seed catalogs are never sparse or weedy. They always "bloom in profusion from early Spring to late Fall." Underneath the picture of snapdragons, for instance, is the following:

"Of easiest culture, succeeding in ordinary well-drained garden soil, in full sun or semi-shade. The gorgeous flowers are freely produced for several months, and until frost, where conditions are favorable."

It all sounds very easy. But read a little more carefully. They require "well-drained" soil, and will do all that blooming "where conditions are favorable." It is the same with other flowers and veg-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—For months operators of race tracks, roller-coasters and gambling casinos have been letting veterans housing take a back seat while they thumbed their noses at building controls. Tomorrow (March 31) however, the famous Tanforan race track near Palo Alto, Calif., is scheduled for a slapdown from forthright U. S. Judge George B. Harris in San Francisco.

Behind this is some highly interesting background showing how a little group of men, if sufficiently ruthless, can give the government the runaround, while the boys who lived in foxholes continue to pound the pavements looking for apartments.

The story begins back last June 2 and June 22 when this columnist called the attention of Civilian Production Officials to the wide-scale thwarting of building controls by the Tanforan race track and suggested that something be done about it.

Something was done — despite the screams of anguish from the race-track boys, who not only denied this column's allegations but threatened a libel suit and all sorts of other dire consequences.

Civilian Production Officials promptly issued an order stopping the use of new building materials in the reconstruction of the track which had been used by the navy during the war. To some builders this action would have been sufficient to remind them of their alleged patriotism. They would have remembered all the fine wartime promises made to the boys who were winning battles, and hung their heads in shame. But not the Tanforan race track crowd. To them watching the ponies romp home and listening to the cash register click was much more important than keeping wartime pledges.

—APPEALING TO WASHINGTON—

So they appealed the government's order, and again were turned down. Then they appealed a second time, going into federal court to ask that the government's order be set aside. In October U. S. Judge Adolphus St. Sure said no. Tanforan was permitted to use its own salvage materials, but nothing more.

But the Tanforan 'race trackeers were avaricious, also tenacious. In December they filed a new appeal in San Francisco and also went over local officials' heads to Washington. And though Washington turned them down, they quietly went ahead with their building plans, spending an alleged total of $300,000 on new materials during the period they were under orders not to spend anything.

For some strange reason, however, the government did nothing about this — not till very recently.

—CRIMINAL ACTION AT RENO—

At Reno, Nevada, however, officials were more forthright. On June 22, this column reported that lumber from the Tanforan race track "went to build a gambling house at Lake Tahoe, Nev., owned in part by E. W. Heple, Tanforan's contractor. The Tanforan people claimed all this lumber went to veterans," the Merry-Go-Round stated, "but this is not true. Actually part of it went to the gambling joint in direct violation of a CPA order."

This column was also denied—with especial vigor. However, the payoff came when U. S. District Attorney Miles Pike in Reno brought a criminal action against Heple and his associates in the "Tahoe Sky Harbor Casino." They were fined $7,500. Meanwhile, near Palo Alto, Calif.—Herbert Hoover's home town—the Tanforan boys continued to fix up their race track, grandstands, cafeteria, paddock and barn at a total reported cost of around $2,000,000—despite the repeated orders of the federal government. Their flouting of the government appeared so willful that rumor got around that they had an "in" with somebody very high up.

So far this rumor is unconfirmed. It remains a fact, however, that while criminal action was brought by the U. S. district attorney in Reno, no criminal move was made by officials in San Francisco.

Finally, however, officials bestirred themselves and started civil action. Instead of punishing Tanforan for their willful violations, the Civilian Production Administration merely asked Judge Harris for an injunction to stop building operations. The injunction was granted.

This was on Feb. 14. But even an injunction by a federal court did not seem to faze the race-track boys. For on March 21, Judge Harris cited Tanforan officials for contempt of court for allegedly willfully violating his restraining order. The hearing on this violation takes place tomorrow.

—LOBBY LEARNS SECRET—

There was a day when the operations of the power lobby made headlines. Now the boys have learned that if they work quietly behind the scenes they get much further.

So without benefit of headlines the other day, the power lobby started its all-out drive to keep the federal government out of the power business altogether.

On the house side of the capitol, members of the reclamation association demanded that the federal government stop spending money on reclamation and power projects in the West, while on the senate side Senator Elmer Thomas, the Oklahoma Democrat and cotton speculator, submitted a bill which would take the federal government out of the power business entirely, except for the Tennessee Valley authority.

Thomas would even have the government sell all the power from its present dams—including the huge Grand Coulee, Shasta and Bonneville dams—to private power companies at cost, with the private companies then permitted to sell power to the public after taking their cut.

New styles will give young men a chance to really get out this spring. And the women will run them a clothes second.

Folks who learn to do most anything are the ones who were willing to do most anything to learn.

Veterans Can Apply For State Bonus This Week

About 3,000 Delta county veterans of World War II who are eligible for the Michigan bonus payment can make application for the bonus this week at either the office of the Red Cross, 605 Ludington, or a special office of the Office of Veterans Affairs to be established in the court room at the court house in Escanaba.

S. R. Wickman, home service chairman for the Delta county Chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday that application blanks for the bonus will be available at Red Cross headquarters office starting Tuesday, April 1. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday and thereafter the office will close at 5:30 p. m. There will be sufficient clerical help to assist in filling out the forms.

Wickman said that veterans and beneficiaries of deceased veterans must bring the original copy of the veteran's discharge with them. Since some discharges do not contain complete information of domestic or foreign service this information must be available when filing bonus applications. This is necessary because veterans will be paid $15 for each month of overseas service and $10 for each month of domestic service. Full military service data can be obtained from the War and Navy Departments and the Red Cross will assist veterans in securing this information.

Robert LeMire of the Office of Veterans Affairs said that the OVA office in the court rooms in the court house will be established by 9 a. m. Monday, with Mrs. Jean Orler in charge. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily to serve the veterans. The Michigan Employment Service and the State Highway Department are loaning typists to assist the veterans in filing applications.

LeMire also stressed the need of the veteran bringing with him his original discharge paper. A certified copy will not do, he added.

He said that application forms for the dependent next of kin of veterans will be mailed to them from the adjutant general's office in Lansing. When these are received by the next of kin they will receive assistance at the OVA office in filling them out, LeMire said.

Mrs. R. W. Coolman Storm Bound 60 Hours In The Town Of Vassar

BY JACK MURPHY

Mrs. R. W. Coolman, 612 Ludington street, got on a Greyhound bus in Detroit at 10:35 Monday night. She arrived in Escanaba on Friday morning.

Between Monday and Friday she saw a whole town full of people forget themselves and their own individual cares to take care of 38 strangers in whom they had no earthly personal interest.

On Tuesday morning, the Greyhound bus which carried those 38 passengers, bucked its way through the storm, and—4 miles west of Vassar—into a drift. It was stuck there for hours.

A state highway crew, who had been out all night, finally dug out the bus and broke trail for it into Vassar.

No Food In Restaurant
They stopped on the Main Street and pointed through the still blowing snow and said, "There's the restaurant."

The restaurant was there, all right. But it was a little short on food. The bakery trucks and the meat trucks hadn't been able to get through.

The 38 passengers stood around, with their shoulders hunched, because there wasn't much else to do. The hotels were full to the brim.

And then, in a couple of the local citizens standing around the restaurant, something began working. That something which, small as it is, and deeply buried under our phony righteousness and smugness and pomposity, has kept the good God from abolishing, and the stronger stomachs of philosophers from completely dispairing of, the human race.

"Something ought to be done," these local folks said, and then maybe waited a little to see if the next guy would do it, before somebody called up someone who belonged to the Odd Fellows, and he called somebody else, and before anybody knew quite how it happened, the Odd Fellows hall was thrown open to the 38 strangers.

Then somebody contacted a local butcher and he raided his place for meat for the 38 strangers. Vassar was going to feed them.

And then somebody announced that there wasn't a loaf of bread in the town. So the local baker—whose local market had been considerably limited by those big company bakery trucks which hadn't come through—peeled down to his undershirt and grabbed his white cap, and heated up his ovens for an emergency run of bread to feed 38 strangers—and a lot of new local custom.

ers, too, of course, who may or may not be only temporary.

Located Spare Beds

And then these Vassar people began looking for beds for the strangers. They began calling. "You got an extra bed? You got an extra room?" They found twice as many as they needed.

Mrs. Coolman was led over to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brunet. John Brunet is manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone there at Vassar.

Along with Mrs. Coolman went a Mrs. Avery from St. Ignace, Michigan, another passenger on the bus.

Those people at Vassar kept right on being good guys. They turned a telephone in a local business office over to the bus driver so he could keep telling his boss how the roads weren't open yet. They brought a passenger with a bum heart to the local doctor. They fixed up an old lady with a cot and blankets and stuff in the Odd Fellows hall because she didn't want to move around much. The 38 strangers were there over 60 hours.

And, in those 60 hours, maybe Vassar staved off the end of things by no telling how many years. Once God got mad enough at peoples' phoniness and foolishness to make a quick slap at the world; and the chances are He will again, since we are as we are, you and I, and especially you, of course. But the things those Vassar people did for those 38 passengers must count a little on the other side.

Mrs. Coolman says she's going back to Vassar to visit—that's how much she liked those people. She also said it was the worst storm she ever saw.

Wenner Promoted; Goes To Lower Michigan May 1

Naming of two outstanding Michigan county agricultural agents to become district extension supervisors completes the organization of the five extension districts recently announced by Michigan State college in its Agricultural Extension Service reorganization plan.

The state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State college, on Thursday approved the transfer of Harold J. Foster, Barry county agricultural agent, and E. A. Wenner, Delta county agricultural agent, to take over new positions on May 1.

Foster, a graduate of Michigan State College and with an M. S. from the University of Minnesota, has been county agent in Barry county since 1930. He will supervise District No. 1, which includes a narrow strip of western Michigan including 14 counties from Berrien and Cass counties north to Leelanau county.

Supervising the extension work in the 18 counties in the northern part of the lower peninsula will be Wenner, who has been county agricultural agent since 1935 in Delta county.

At the same time the board approved the change of title for two other veteran extension service employees who will be district extension supervisors. They are B. D. Kuhn, East Lansing, who has had the title of assistant county agent leader, and J. G. Wells, Jr., Chatham, who has been county agent leader for the upper peninsula. They have been doing supervisory work and the change is only one in title.

The fifth district extension supervisor is A. A. Griffith, former Ionia county agricultural agent, who assumed his new duties on March 1.

R. J. Baldwin, director of the extension program, believes the division of the state into five districts with an extension supervisor for each district will bring about better coordination and super vision of activities.

Wells, who has been in charge of extension service work in the upper peninsula since 1929, will maintain his headquarters at Marquette. The upper peninsula is now designated as District 5.

Kuhn, assistant state county agent leader since 1941, will supervise the 15 counties in eastern Michigan including the "thumb" area. Prior to joining the state staff he was county agent in Menominee county for several years. District 2, composed of 16 counties in south-central Michigan will be supervised by Griffith.

C. V. Ballard, former state leader for county agents, recently was named assistant director of extension in charge of field services. Director Baldwin said all but Wells would have headquarters at East Lansing. Successors for Foster and Wenner as county agricultural agents are expected to be named before they leave their counties May 1 to assume their new duties.

Milwaukee Road Lays Heavy Rail

Iron Mountain—Laying of new 90-pound rails on the Milwaukee road bed between Iron Mountain and Green Bay "may possibly speed up train schedules between the two points." H. O. Grede, Milwaukee Road station agent, said today. Work on the new project was begun Monday at Green Bay. Three crews will work from that point toward Iron Mountain.

Grede declined to comment further on the possibility of faster schedules "until the program is completed about July 27 as scheduled, or until instructions are received from Milwaukee Road headquarters." He declined also to comment on the cost of the undertaking. "We, here, would have no way of knowing what that would be," he said.

Press Fish Contest Opening On Tuesday

Competition in the eleventh annual Escanaba Daily Press Upper Peninsula Fishing Contest opens on Tuesday, April 1. While most of the fishing water is still ice covered, anglers hope that the ice will soon be swept away and they can be at their sport again.

As has been true since the contest was initiated, competition is open to all anglers who fish in Upper Peninsula waters. It is an attempt to locate the fishermen who manage to mix luck and skill in the proportions that land the largest fish in the various classes. In recognition of the fact that by far the larger number of fishermen pursue the quest of fish for sport, the contest places the emphasis on single fish of notable size rather than upon numbers of fish taken from the water.

Rules of the contest, virtually unchanged from those in effect in previous years, will be found listed in full on the contest entry blank which will appear, from time to time, during the open fishing seasons in the Press. Beginning on April 1, competition in each class will open with the legal opening of fishing for that species of fish. Every man, woman or child who fishes in the public waters of the peninsula is invited to enter his big fish in the contest. There are no entry fees. Each contestant may enter as many fish as he desires. Visitors to the region and residents are all eligible.

As in previous years the 1947 contest is divided into classes, there are 14 listed on the entry blank, one for each species of fish sought in the waters of the area. Additional classes will be added if interest as evidenced by the anglers' activities proves there is a need for them. To the fisherman in each class fortunate enough to land the biggest fish, the Daily Press will award a trophy.

The principal restriction on the fisherman in taking fish he intends to enter in the contest is that the fish must be taken in a legal manner. In order to assist in judging the entries, fishermen entering fish are asked, whenever possible, to submit photographs of their fish along with the entry blanks.

Anglers may clip the contest entry blank when it appears in the Press, or may secure copies by mail by addressing a request to the Outdoors Editor.

No League Play
Friday, Planning
Next Tournament

There will be no session of the Delta Bridge League this week, due to the fact that the regular meeting night falls on Good Friday.

With the Robert L. Parsons trophy tournament completed, League members are looking forward to the Upper Michigan open team of four tournament which will be held early in May. A large delegation from the Marinette and Menominee areas, and Appleton, Minocqua, Green Bay, Ishpeming, Marquette, Iron River and Copper country districts is expected.

This week's session brought out a number of freak and unusual hands for the enjoyment of the crowd attending. New plastic cards were used for the first time. All members and interested non-members are invited to attend our next session.

Winners Friday night were as follows:

Cataracts Found
With Instruments

San Francisco—The number of known types of congenital cataracts, which are to be found in every human eye, has been greatly increased in recent years by new scientific methods.

Increase in knowledge of the different types of congenital eye abnormalities has been made possible largely by the development of the slit-lamp and the corneal microscope for study of the dilated pupil, says Dr. Frederick C. Cordes, professor of ophthalmology in the University of California Medical School.

Most congenital cataracts are stationary and cause no interference with vision, many individuals never realizing they exist. Some such cataracts are simply dust-like opacities in the eye.

However, in 50 per cent of cases there are other ocular disturbances, such as dimness of vision and involuntary movement of the eyeballs, Dr. Cordes states.

For every person who tills the soil there is at least one other person who makes his living by processing, wholesaling, transporting and retailing agricultural products.

Thirty-five per cent of all accidental deaths are due to accidents, on home premises.

Radio In Review

By John Crosby

Etiquette for Listeners

Emily Post, according to "Today's Woman," feels there should be a code of etiquette for radio listeners, based on respect for those performing on the air waves. Mrs. Post's code, which shall be immediately enshrined in my collection under "Listening Habits, Female," are pretty rigid, as you shall see.

"No matter whether it's symphony, forum discussion or comedy show, interruptions are not permitted," says "Today's Woman."

"If the telephone rings, the caller is informed that Mrs. Post is busy and will call you back." Unexpected visitors have the choice of waiting or returning another time. Should they choose to stay, they are ushered into chairs, much as they would be in a theater, concert or lecture hall, and confronted with a card that says "Quiet Please."

As one of Mrs. Post's most slavish followers, I'm happy to hear her solution of a problem that must have confronted all of us. My own custom, when interrupted, is to say "sssh" and it has never worked very well. My friends, an obstreperous crew, don't sell easily. Even when I succeed in quieting them, they make funny faces. Mrs. Post, and it distracts me. One of them wiggles his ears. I'll try the "Quiet Please" sign but I'm not at all confident it will work as well with my friends as it does with Mrs. Post's. My friends are likely to burst right out laughing.

Unexpected visitors, you say, have the choice of waiting or returning another time. Well, I don't know how that will work either, but I'll try.

"You'll have to wait or return another time," I can hear myself saying. "I'm listening to Milton Berle."

"Who?"

"He's a comedian on the radio and interruptions are not permitted. There's a new code of etiquette based on respect for those performing on the air waves. You'll just have to go away."

He'd probably go away all right and never come back.

WAR AND PEACE: The National Broadcasting Company, a rather austere organization of great power and prestige, has adopted some of the panoply and ritual of the United States Army. The pages over there are uniformed and stiff as second lieutenants; the chain of command, particularly in the higher echelons, is clearly defined. The other day the press staff at N. B. C. sent a memorandum to editors boldly marked CONFIDENTIAL. My secretary, who is as security conscious as any brigadier general in the War Department, committed the contents to memory, then carefully chewed up the memorandum and swallowed it.

STATISTICS IN OUR TIME: The advertising Council announces that in 1946 the radio industry contributed public service messages on housing to the amount of 801,435,000 listener impressions. That is 54 listener impressions for every man, woman and child in the United States. If you didn't get your quota of listener impressions, complain to your local station. You're clearly entitled to 54.

DOLL HOUSES DE LUXE

Doll houses, 1947 style, will feature large size dining rooms complete with breakfronts, cabinets, console tables and mirrors as well as tables and chairs, according to toy manufacturers of the U. S. A. The grand tradition in decorating is echoed expansively with period and modern miniatures of luxuriously furnished living room, library and bedroom ensembles. Upholstered pieces, carved wood and plastic with an authentic mahogany grain are featured in the new furnishings for doll houses.

Posies Bloom On Easter Bonnets

BY ALICIA HART

The artificial posies that bloom on Easter bonnets will get tough competition this year from fresh flowers—thanks to new clip-on flower holders that keep stems moist and blossoms unwilting.

Glamor girls putting these holders through their paces are coming up with tricks for personal decoration that rival a florist's blue ribbon arrangements.

One clever aid to putting these tricks across is a slender sterling silver vial lined with a spongy substance that holds water for flowers in leakproof security even when it is clipped on upside down. Besides their dramatic appearance at Easter, these holders promise a long life of usefulness keeping boutonnières perky on suit lapels while corralling the dripping stem that stains fabric.

Adopting glamorous tricks, the budget-wise girl who doesn't plan a heavy investment in hats can still wear the prettiest topper on the avenue. A length of straw, purchased at the dime store, and twisted into a bow, then ringed around with fresh golden jonquils, pays the same flattering compliments to your ensemble as high-priced creations.

Rosebuds, carnations or violets used to circle the open crown of an inexpensive white straw bonnet can be counted on to add both fragrance and eye-catching design. Or holders clipped on upside down to the brim of a snug cloche can be used by the girl who wants flower petals to frame her ear.

Flowers that go to the head can be twinned with matching corsages clipped to suit label or to a velvet band around the wrist. Two holders, linked by a silver chain, can swing a floral chate-laine across the neckline of coat or dress. Posies plucked from the garden, stuck in a holder and clipped to a belt are dashing pick-me-ups for a plain dress. A giddy trick to perk up a floral print ensemble is to repeat the motif in real flowers perched atop a bonnet.

A much larger supply of canned fruit and fruit juices will be available this winter than last. The 1946 pack of canned deciduous fruits is one and one-half times as large as the 1945 pack.

Processed cereals may be restored to whole grain levels by the addition of thiamine, niacin, and iron. Cereals are enriched voluntarily by many manufacturers.

during a week-end lull of congressional arguments for and against President Truman's proposal for a $400,000,000 program to bolster the Greek and Turkish governments against communism.

The senate foreign relations committee plans to end public hearings Monday and start work the next day in closed sessions on a bill. The house foreign affairs committee likewise called for public hearings Monday but made no plans for the rest of the week.

Final congressional action may not come until mid-April two weeks past the March 31 goal originally set in view of the fact that the British plan to end their Greek aid on that date.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) chairman of the foreign relations committee announced "full consideration" will be given to all amendments offered to the Greek-Turkey aid bill.

Vandenberg told reporters that any proposal senators want to make will be taken up by the committee. Amendments already have been offered by Senators Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) and Lodge (R-Mass.).

Paul Porter, American economic representative to Greece, has been asked to appear at a closed session of the committee Tuesday, when the group also will hear from the secretaries of state, war and the navy. Opposition witnesses will be heard in the committee's final public hearing Monday.

Palestine Problem Held Back In U. N. By Great Britain

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, N. Y., March 29 (P)—Britain again today delayed filing the explosive Palestine case with the United Nations, this time to seek assurances of support from Russia, France and China for a special session of the general assembly.

At the same time the turbulent Greek question moved toward a full airing here. A reliable U. N. source said it was known that the Security Council's 11-nation commission now examining Greece's border troubles would submit majority and minority reports, with Russia and Poland as the dissenters.

The plan for a special session of the assembly to set up machinery for handling the Palestine issue already has United States support.

The new development in the Holy Land situation came after a foreign office spokesman in London said that Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the Security Council, had been authorized to present the case officially to the U. N.

It is within the latitude of his instructions to take the step at once," the London spokesman declared. However, to carry out what a spokesman here termed "a courtesy step," Cadogan asked Secretary-General Trygve Lie first to get for him prior assurances of approval from the other three major powers.

Canadian Dollar Worth 93 Cents In Foreign Exchange

New York, March 29 (P)—The drop in the Canadian dollar to below 93 U. S. cents in the free foreign exchange market this week appeared to place fresh emphasis upon dollar domination in world trade.

The free Canadian dollar rallied slightly today and closed at 93 1/2 U. S. cents, about the lowest price since the Dominion money was officially pegged at par with the U. S. dollar last summer.

The official price, and the basis on which all foreign trade between the two nations is settled, remains at par — one Canadian dollar equals one U. S. dollar.

Some international bankers see in the lower free rate a reflection of Canada's unfavorable balance of trade with the United States. Others claim the decline is merely a gauge of local supply and demand factors.

Both groups say that revaluation rumors—denied by Canadian government spokesmen—have been a decisive factor.

Iceland Darkened As Long-Dormant Volcano Blows Up

Reykjavik, Iceland, March 29 (P)—An eruption which started in volcanic Mount Hekla this morning sent a gigantic column of smoke and lava to a height of about 25,000 feet and plunged a part of Southern Iceland into darkness while the sun shown brightly on the rest of the country.

Automobiles on roads 60 miles south of the volcano had to drive with headlights burning and ashes fell on ships as far as 20 miles out at sea.

There was no immediate danger to residents, but the thickly populated area south of the mountain was threatened with gas and fumes.

Hekla, one of the earth's most famous volcanoes, was considered in Icelandic folklore to be the home of witches. It has been dormant for 102 years, its last eruption having occurred in 1845, when it was intermittently active for seven months.

Comes By Airplane To Visit Daughter

Iron River—McKinley Duff, former Gastra resident, used the seven-league boots of an air liner to hasten here this week to the bedside of his daughter, Mrs. Earl Holmes, at Stambaugh General hospital.

Duff is employed in the mill office and in woods operations of a lumbering firm at Kootenai, Idaho. He traveled 300 miles by car to Spokane, Wash., late Saturday and boarded a 40-passenger transport plane at 8 a. m. Sunday. After seven hours of flight and intervening hours of waiting he reached Duluth at 11 a. m. the next day and continued here by bus, arriving Monday at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Holmes, the former Mill-cent Duff, was reported today to be improved after being in critical condition for a week. She underwent an operation last week following the birth of a son, Michael Arthur. Several blood transfusions were administered and another may be given tomorrow. Her mother has been here for several weeks.

Gasoline Prices Are Upped Again

As predicted by Rankin P. Peck, executive director of the Retail Gasoline Dealers' association of Michigan earlier in the week gasoline advanced a half cent a gallon Wednesday, wholesale and retail, in the state.

The raise brought the price of gasoline to 24 cents for regular grades and 26 cents for premium grades in Escanaba. The prices are 22 1/2 cents for regular and 24 1/2 cents for Ethyl in Lower Michigan, but are higher in the Upper Peninsula because of freight rates.

"The margin on which the dealers operate would not permit them to absorb this increase," Peck said. "The retailers don't like it because they have to pay the increased sales tax and they dislike seeing the public paying the advance in price."

Both advances were caused by gains in crude oil prices.

Brimley Fishermen Lost In Blizzard On Whitefish Bay

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 29 (P)—Two herring fishermen were believed lost tonight in a blizzard on the ice of Whitefish Bay, off Point Iroquois, about 25 miles west of here.

Commander T. A. Galburg of the Coast Guard unit at Sault Ste. Marie identified the men as Melvin Parrish, 43, and Eugene Deuman, 27, both of Brimley, about 13 miles west of this city.

The two men were out in their truck on the ice about ten miles off shore when the blizzard hit around noon today, Galburg said. They were last seen by Leo Blanc, another fisherman, driving in across the ice toward Point Iroquois.

Galburg said there was little danger of the men's breaking through the ice. The ice on the bay is 19 inches thick. He said, however, there was danger the men might freeze.

Coast Guardsmen turned on searchlights at Point Iroquois and sounded fog horns in an effort to guide the men to shore. Other Coast Guardsmen from the Sault tried to reach the scene with flares but reported difficulty bucking heavy snow drifts.

Galburg said the Coast Guard plane from Traverse City could join in the search if the men were not found by Sunday morning.

Four-Month Period Of Religious Rites Opens In Holy Week

Vatican City, March 29 (P)—Holy week—beginning tomorrow with the distribution of palms in Saint Peter's and the more than 400 other churches of Rome—will herald a four-month period of religious activities expected to bring thousands of pilgrims to the capital of catholicism.

This period will witness the beatification and canonization of nationals of several countries, ending with that of Blessed Catherine Laboure, sister of charity, the last week of July.

Vatican sources said Pope Pius XII would be offered holy palms tomorrow in the customary ritual by Monsignor Alfonso Camillo de Romain, vicar general of Vatican City.

L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said that during the war both clergy and populace had become less accustomed to the splendor of Holy week observances.

No Progress Made To Avert Telephone Workers Walkout

New York, March 29 (P)—Federal mediators conferred for more than seven hours today with officials of the American Union of telephone workers and the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company but a union spokesman reported that both sides remained adamant and "no progress has been made."

The mediators had expressed hope that they could help the parties effect an agreement which could set a pattern to avert the nationwide telephone strike threatened for April 7.

Members of the union's negotiating committee left the conference at 6:30 p. m. (EST). John J. Moran, union president said no new offer had been made by the company and that the union had not changed its demands. Moran added that "we will be available for further meetings if arranged by the U. S. conciliators for tonight or tomorrow."

Briefly Told

Lions Club—M. D. Jackson, safety engineer for the Employers Mutual, will speak at the Lions club dinner at the Sherman hotel Monday night at 6:45.

Logan to Chicago—Peter N. Logan, C. & N. W. engineer and chairman of the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, leaves Monday for a meeting of the general grievance committee of the B. of L. F. & E. at the Atlantic hotel in Chicago. He will also attend the sessions of the auditing subcommittee, to which he was recently appointed. He expects to be gone two or three weeks.

Plans Progress For Boys' Conference Here April 18-19

Plans for the Older Boys Conference to be held here in Escanaba on April 18 and 19, are steadily taking form. Preliminary arrangements were conducted by Cliff Drury, field secretary for the state YMCA office in Detroit, and Harry Brackett of Escanaba, conference chairman for the Upper Peninsula.

Edward E. Edick, principal of the Escanaba high school, has charge of local housing arrangements, and Charles Fello, Hi-Y director, has charge of the local delegations. Various local civic organizations have been asked to sponsor a local boy, and Escanaba citizens will be asked to furnish Friday night lodging and Saturday morning breakfast for the 350 visiting delegates expected.

Dr. Glenn Frye, St. Joseph, Mich., clergyman and expert on boys' problems, will be the principal speaker of the Escanaba conference, the first held in the U. P. since the war.

Registrations will be taken on Friday, April 18, and the first general conference held in the William W. Oliver auditorium in the junior high building on Friday afternoon.

The student council of the Escanaba high school is cooperating with local conference groups, as is the Delta County Youth Guidance council, which will observe or participate in all group conferences.

a pile of water, and holding it against his nostrils as protection against the deadly fumes. Lorenzine reentered the pit later with rescue workers but was unable to locate Copple.

As the general search ended, funerals were being held for 12 of the victims, and Centralia and surrounding communities prepared for a "day of mourning" on Monday.

Preparations went ahead for separate federal, state and county inquiries into the disaster. The day of the blast a company official said he believed it was caused by coal dust. Fred Hellmeyer, company chief electrician, said he believed a "shot charge improperly packed" set off the explosion.

Wild Ride Repeats For Rickenbacker, World War I Ace

Houston, Tex., March 29 (P)—Capt. Rickenbacker, Eastern Airlines president, flew into town today and was rushed to a company stag party in a careening car making 85 miles an hour, sirens screaming.

As Rickenbacker, former daredevil auto racer and World War I flying ace, eased out of the automobile, he said:

"That's the wildest ride I had since a day in 1918 when I was in a car in Philadelphia with Gen. Smedley Butler."

The chauffeur, Chief Deputy Sheriff Jake Colca, grinned.

"Don't you remember me?" he asked. "I was a Marine sergeant back in 1918. I drove the car on that other wild ride too."

Spirit of Easter Causes Boy Of 9 To Turn Samaritan

Pittsburgh, March 29 (P)—The mysterious "Spirit of Easter" Samaritan who gave away three-pound Easter eggs, $1 and $5 bills today turned out to be a nine-year old boy.

Police learned the generous lad had appropriated $43 of his parents' money to finance his largesse.

Asked why his heart is bigger than his pocketbook, the boy replied his school teacher told him "everybody should be good to everybody else at Easter."

East-West Record Broken In Non-Stop Commercial Flight

New York, March 29 (P)—A United Airlines DC-6 plane carrying 38 passengers arrived here tonight after a non-stop flight from Long Beach, Calif., to set a new west-east transcontinental record for commercial craft of six hours, 47 minutes and 13 seconds.

The official time was clocked by William Zint of the National Aeronautics Association. The plane, piloted by E. W. Larned of La Grange, Ill., left Long Beach at 11:24:14 a. m. (EST) and arrived here at 6:11:27 p. m. (EST).

LEWIS ORDERS MOURNING FOR APRIL 1 WEEK

code issued under the terms of the governments agreement with the union for operation of the mines. The pits have been under Federal seizure and operation since May, 1946.

Lewis calculated from Sayers' statistics that there have been 46,521 violations of the new safety code from last July to March 25 this year. He pointed to a code proviso requiring Krug to close any mine found by the Federal inspector to be unsafe.

"Mr. Krug has not in any one instance in the industry closed a mine that was unsafe, removed its manager, or made any effective attempt to have the law and his own code of standards complied with, as recommended by his own inspectors," Lewis said grimly.

"He has dishonored his word, brutalized the mine workers and he should be cast out of the high office he holds."

"Killing Must Stop" In calling the memorial shut-down, Lewis specifically directed that it end at midnight Sunday, April 6.

"This is the worst disaster of its kind since 1928," Lewis wrote the miners. "The explosion and its attendant loss of life could have been prevented if the mining laws and the Federal safety code had been enforced."

"Criminal negligence on the part of Krug is responsible for the death of these brave men and the future impoverishment of their families. Forced to work by yellow-dog injunction secured by Krug and his co-conspirators, the safety of these men was neglected to a point where they died like trapped animals.

"The widows now weep and their children have become pathetic, mournful and helpless figures. There is public sorrow at the moment, but we know from harsh experience that it is only a momentary feeling of pity on the part of the public, and this sacrifice, like others before, will soon be forgotten. x x x

"This killing must stop, this debauched administration of mine safety must stop. It must be stopped now."

"The American people must be roused to the stark realities of the situation and the casualties of the coal industry."

"Coal is already saturated with the blood of too many brave men and drenched with the tears of too many surviving widows and orphans."

(By The Associated Press) The nation's 400,000 soft coal miners today appeared ready to observe without question the six-day mourning period for the 111 victims of the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster. Their attitude was summed up in the words, "If John L. Lewis says we're going out, we're going out."

Word of the shaggy United Mine leader's order which directed the stoppage beginning midnight tomorrow (Monday) filtered slowly through the mine areas yesterday (Saturday) but UMW leaders and miners agreed they would "cooperate with Lewis 100 percent."

"I don't like to lose a week's wages," declared Joseph Montichak of Castle Shannon, Pa. "But if John L. Lewis says we're going out, we're going out."

A veteran miner at California, Pa., who declined use of his name said:

"Whatever Lewis says, goes. He's our leader; our bread and butter depends on him."

Another miner swore and growled: "Just when a man is getting on his feet..."

The six-day stoppage was believed the first national observance of a mine disaster although it has always been a tradition that all men in the pit quit work for the day when a fellow-miner is killed at work.

There was widespread absenteeism in the mines following the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt but the walkouts were not authorized.

Actually, only one full day's production—Wednesday—will be lost by the six-day memorial.

Tuesday, known jointly as John Mitchell and John L. Lewis day, is a holiday in the mines under terms of the contract. Mitchell was president of the union at the time the eight-hour day was won.

The religious holidays Thursday and Friday cut down normal production and few miners work Saturday.

EX-GOVERNOR DIES

New York, March 29 (P)—Charles S. Whitman, 78, former governor of New York, died tonight.

Whitman, who was elected governor in 1914 and reelected two years later, died of a heart attack, his son-in-law, John J. Parsons, said. The former governor had been ill of arteriosclerosis for some time, Parsons said.

STORM CAUSES M-28 CRASHES

Three Collisions Occur Saturday Morning; Several Injured

Munising—A sudden blizzard in the Munising area, with visibility poor on the highways, was blamed as a contributing cause in three automobile accidents on M-28 Saturday morning. Several persons were injured, two of them requiring hospitalization.

At 8:30 a. m. Saturday a car driven by Michael J. Stern, Green Bay, going east on M-28 two miles east of Au Train, collided head-on with an automobile driven by William Rotz of Munising, who was enroute to Marquette. Mrs. Paul Lukowski, a passenger in the Rotz car, was injured in the head and face; Mrs. William Rotz was shaken and bruised; Naomi Rotz, 13, Frances Lukowski, 10, and Emily Glasson were unhurt. Both cars were badly damaged.

An automobile driven by Armand Gasparow, 34, of Norway, rammed the rear of a car driven by James Hebert of Au Train at 11:45 a. m. Saturday near the pumping station on M-28. Gasparow was taken to the Munising hospital with a broken right knee cap and injured right hand. Cornelius Daley, 33, of Norway, was also brought to the hospital with bad cuts about the head and ear.

Loretta Daley, 10, was not injured. In the other car, James Hebert received a back injury, but his wife, Frances, escaped unhurt. A police ticket was issued for Gasparow, charging him with driving too fast for the prevailing road conditions.

At 12:15 Saturday, Emil McCollum, 23, of Au Train drove his car into the rear of an Alger county snowplow driven by Arthur J. Cota of Munising. Both were going east on M-28 east of Munising. Virginia McCollum, 19, was slightly injured about the head and face; Waldin Boneville, 20, of Au Train was cut in the left leg; Wayne Moore, 19, was not hurt. State Trooper John Carstensen said that a summons had been issued for Cota, who had no driver's license, and that further investigation was being made in the case.

Sheriff Arthur Moote joined with Carstensen investigating the accidents.

WHO MAY VOTEEligibility Of Voters
On Hospital Bond
Issue Explained

Numerous questions have arisen in the past few weeks concerning who may vote on the hospital proposition in the election of April 7. In order to clarify these points, William J. Sheahan, prosecuting attorney of Schoolcraft county, has issued an opinion covering the much discussed subject.

On the question of the tax limitation increase, electors must possess the following qualifications:

1. Must be a citizen of the United States.

2. Must be at least 21 years of age.

3. Must be a resident of the state of Michigan for at least 6 months, and be a resident of the city or township for at least 20 days prior to the election.

On the question of the bond issue, the eligibility of voters is as follows:

1. Must be a citizen of the United States.

2. Must be at least 21 years of age.

3. Must be a resident of the state of Michigan for at least 6 months, and a resident of the city or township for at least 20 days prior to the election.

4. Must be a holder of property assessed for taxes within the county or their lawful husbands or wives.

The ballot covering the tax limitation increase must carry by a two-thirds majority. The ballot covering the bond issue must carry by a majority.

Police To Insist
On Observance Of City Speed Laws

In view of the fact that there have been numerous arrests of late for infractions of speed laws in the city, Police Chief Roy Anderson has issued a warning reminding motorists to be a bit more on their guard while driving on streets in the business section of the city.

Prevalence of speeding at this time, says the chief, seems to be due to a great degree to the fact that the pavements are free from ice and snow and motorists seem to feel more free to step on the gas under those conditions.

One section of the city where complaints of reckless speed seem to be the most numerous takes in a part of River street and about half a block of South Cedar street. There is much less traffic on River street than on Cedar street and motorists drive with less restraint there, but do not slow down quickly enough as they make the slight turn. That makes crossing on Cedar street extremely hazardous.

The city ordinances covering speed on city streets place a limit of 25 miles per hour on vehicles, but this phase of the ordinance is subject to further interpretation. If a car's brakes are at fault or if the pavement is slippery "excessive speed" charges may be made against motorists who are not traveling that fast, says Chief Anderson, adding that in view of the fact that there are still a great number of old and battered cars with faulty brakes and erratic mechanisms plying the highways, a more severe interpretation of the city ordinances will have to be maintained.

"The safety record in Manistique is one of the best in Michigan. We intend to keep that record," says the chief.

Lauerman Thanks
Fire Department
For Good Work

Appreciation of the efforts made in their behalf by the Manistique fire department has been voiced by the Lauerman company whose Manistique store was destroyed by fire Thursday morning.

The letter, signed by L. J. Lauerman and sent to Elmer Boal, city fire chief, follows, in part:

"May I take this opportunity to again thank you and your men for your assistance in our disaster. We are sure that the city of Manistique is proud of its fire protection as evidenced by your work."

Committee Explains
Plans For New County
Memorial Hospital

In order to clarify a number of points vitally connected with the hospital bond issue to be voted on in the general election of April 7, the Schoolcraft County Memorial Hospital committee has issued the following statement:

The need for a modern hospital in Schoolcraft county should be evident to every resident. Past experience has shown that often as many as six Schoolcraft county children are in the Children's hospital at Marquette at one time. This means that parents of these children are required to assume the expense of travel to that city many times to see their children. In many cases this would not be necessary if we had an adequate hospital in Manistique.

Hospital insurance offers a means for providing necessary hospitalization on a basis of regular payment that can be made from modest incomes. The advantages of hospital insurance mean little if we don't have a modern hospital to take care of you and your family when it is needed.

While most people readily admit we need a hospital and have needed one for many years, the discouraging thing was the matter of raising the money to build one. The Hospital committee is now offering a workable plan which will provide Schoolcraft county with a modern hospital that all of us can afford and here are the facts:

A 30-bed hospital from available information is the right size for our county.

It is expected that the total cost will be $300,000. This will cover the cost of the building, the cost of all equipment, and completely furnish the hospital ready to receive patients.

And here is how it can be financed:

It is possible to get a federal grant for one-third of the cost by meeting certain requirements and we are lead to believe by the proper authorities that Schoolcraft county rates a favorable priority. If we receive the grant we would obtain $100,000 from the federal government.

The committee feels that $100,000 can be raised by subscriptions from all industries and through solicitation of all individuals in the county.

The remaining $100,000 is to be raised by the county through sale of bonds. The voters are asked to approve a bond issue in the amount of $150,000; and the reason for this amount is that we estimate $100,000 will be required to supply one-third the amount to build and equip the hospital. The remaining $50,000 raised by the bond issue is to provide funds if needed to operate the hospital for the first year and to cover any operating deficit or less until it operates at a profit.

Many hospitals break even or operate at a small profit but it can hardly be expected that a new hospital will operate at a profit from its beginning.

Now as to the operation of the hospital:

It will be known, if the county board approves, as the "Schoolcraft County Memorial Hospital." State laws control the operation of county hospitals and the governing body is a board of 9 men or women from the county and not more than 2 can be from the city in which the hospital is located. This board can be appointed by the county board of supervisors or they may be elected by popular vote if the county board so decides.

The law is set up to insure efficient operation free from politics and no one need assume that the hospital will not be properly operated.

Up to the present time the hospital committee has raised $10,000 from local industries only to hire an architect to prepare the plans. We have interviewed several architects and will hire one as soon as the results of the bond election are known. We will then submit the required plans and other information to the proper authority to obtain consideration for the $100,000 federal grant. Solicitation of local industries and individuals in the county will be started at that time also and with good fortune we should be ready to start construction within a year from the time the bond issue is approved by the voters.

One of the requirements for a federal grant is assurance that the hospital can be financed as to the balance required. If the bond issue is approved on April 7, the Glad Raiment Is Fully Justified...

Next Sunday is Easter. The message of hope and gladness that it brings makes it the most significant day on the Christian calendar. It is therefore fitting and proper that we should dress in our best on that occasion and attend some church. Glad raiment is fully justified on this happy occasion.

A regular meeting of the King's Daughters of the Bethel Baptist church was held Thursday evening in the church parlors.

Plans were discussed during the business meeting for a rummage sale to be held in April. Announcement was made of the coming on April 28 of the Bethel Girls Choir from Bethel Academy in St. Paul.

The following program was given: Vocal solo, Mrs. Julius Settergren; reading, Miss Helen ther, urge your friends and neighbors to do the same.

Do not forget that if the voters do not approve the bond issue on April 7 there will be no hospital for Schoolcraft county. It is strictly up to the voters.

Sample ballots are being sent to all voters who can be reached by mail and it is hoped you will study the ballot. If you wish further information contact a member of the committee. Don't be misled by gossip—Vote "Yes" on April 7.

Still Looking For A Pastor

Members and friends of the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, have been disappointed to learn that the pastor whom the congregation recently called to serve here has found that he will not be able to accept.

The Rev. C. Harrison Becker, of Morrison, Ill., who was here as trial minister several weeks ago, was accepted at a recent congregational meeting, but when informed of the call answered that he had, in the meantime, accepted a pastorate in Iowa.

That leaves the local pulpit still vacant. The Rev. Harold Martinson, of the Bethel Baptist church, will preach at the church today at the 11 o'clock services.

Earl Cousineau
Will Sing At NWC Program

The Music committee of the Manistique Women's club will present Earl Cousineau in a voice recital at the next regular club meeting to be held Tuesday, April 1, at the Lakeside school.

Mr. Cousineau, who is a teacher at the Manistique high school, has had a broad musical background. While at Illinois Wesleyan he studied under Dean Westbrook and coached with Grace Grove of Chicago for four years. While teaching in southern Illinois he did a weekly radio broadcast and studied with Lenora Caton for three years. In 1942 he enlisted with the Coast Guard, and while stationed in Baltimore, sang with the Baltimore and Ohio Glee club and appeared with them as soloist. After serving in the Pacific war area, he was discharged from the Coast Guard and came, in 1945, to Manistique to teach.

Mr. Cousineau's program on Tuesday will consist of several groups of songs, an Italian group, an aria by Mozart, a German, a French group, and then two English groups. He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James Fyvie, Music committee chairman.

Tickets for the annual luncheon to be held April 15 will be on sale at this meeting.

ABOUT SWEDENFormer Naval Attache To Describe Sweden In War Times

A lecture on Sweden as it was during the war years will be presented by Lieut. Com. Nils William Olsson, instructor at the University of Chicago, on Monday, April 14, at the high school gymnasium under the auspices of the Swedish club. Walter Olson, club president, announces.

LIEUT. COM. N. W. OLSSON

Commander Olsson was born in Seattle but spent his childhood in Sweden as the family moved there during World War I. He returned to America and received his education here and is a graduate of North Park College and the University of Chicago. He served as a teacher at North Park from 1936 to 1942. He was sent to Stockholm in December 1942 as assistant naval attache and served for nearly 30 months with the American legation.

While on duty he traveled extensively throughout Sweden taking movies and colored slides of the countryside.

He returned to Chicago in October 1945 and is now a fulltime instructor in Scandinavian languages at the University of Chicago while writing his dissertation for a Ph.D. degree.

"This lecture," declares Mr. Olsson, "should be of particular interest, especially to Scandinavians in this area. Commander Olsson is not only a trained observer but a fluent speaker and we believe we are offering an evening of unusual entertainment."

Leukemia Control May Be In Offing; Local Woman Aids In Study

Dr. Ruby Engstrom, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. V. S. Engstrom, is a member of the staff at Minnesota university which has conducted notable experiments which give rise to the hope that control of leukemia is in the offing.

The following story written by David Dreiman under the headline "U' Experiment HOPE FOR LEUKEMIA CONTROL INDICATED" appeared in the March 27 issue of the Minneapolis Star:

Experiments conducted at the University of Minnesota have given new hope that a chemical can be used to control—temporarily at least—the course of leukemia, a cancer-like disease of the blood.

Urethane, a drug pioneered in England some years ago and until recently used only for other purposes, has been shown to retard the growth of certain malignant tumors of blood-forming cells in mice. The Minnesota study is the first successful test of its kind conducted with mice in the United States or elsewhere.

The research here checks with results of work done in England with about 30 human patients. Urethane currently is being used for treating human patients in several American medical centers, but no results have been announced.

Significance of the Minnesota work is considered to go beyond mere confirmation of the studies in England.

Reason is that, inasmuch as leukemia in mice responds in exactly the same way as the human disease, experimental mice can be used for "screening" quickly results of the urethane treatment and for determining the effectiveness of drugs related chemically to urethane.

Of particular importance is the fact that University of Minnesota has perhaps the largest stock of inbred leukemic mice in the United States.

ter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald, Third Avenue North, city, and Arnold Vanderberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanderberg, 1016 Delta avenue, were united in marriage Friday afternoon by Justice of Peace Oliver C. Estenson. Witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Caron, city.

Entertainers

Miss Betty June Quistorf entertained members of the senior choir of the Memorial Methodist church on Wednesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nye Quistorf. Games were played and lunch was served.

Harold DuROY, Prop.

The original strain of the stock was brought to Minnesota by Dr. Arthur Kirschbaum in 1941 when he came from the Yale medical school to join the faculty here.

Work on the leukemia project is under direction of Dr. Kirschbaum, associate professor of anatomy, aided by Dr. Ruby Engstrom, teaching assistant, Dr. Harry W. Mixer, National Cancer Institute fellow in radiology, and Dr. C. S. Lu, who is here from Nanking, China, on a grant from the China medical board.

Leukemia is an invariably fatal disease characterized by derangement of the blood-making organs of the body. The white corpuscles of the blood tissues become too numerous, possessing invasive and destructive (cancerous) properties. One of the particularly harmful effects is replacement of the tissue which forms red blood cells, resulting in anemia.

Thus, leukemic cells, like other cancerous cells, are "out of control."

In the Minnesota experiments, urethane, a synthetic compound, was injected into mice in which leukemia had been developed.

Single anesthetic doses were found sufficient to reduce a white blood cell count from 10 times higher than normal to a proper level. One of the striking effects of the drug was to cause the leukemic cells to mature to the point where they were incapable of multiplying.

This effect, however, is not permanent in the sense that sulfas drugs inhibit multiplication of bacteria.

In two instances, the white blood counts remained depressed for almost two weeks after cessation of treatment, a relatively long time in mouse leukemia.

In human patients, relief corresponding to the two weeks in a mouse could mean significant lengthening of the useful life of a victim.

ARRANGE PALM
SUNDAY RITESSpecial Church Services
Today Usher In Holy Week

Services today, Palm Sunday, open the observance of Holy or Passion Week, and many Gladstone churches have arranged special services for the day.

In All Saints' Catholic church there will be a low mass at 8 o'clock and high mass at 10 (CST). Blessing and distribution of palms and a procession will precede the mass, it is announced by the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette, pastor.

In the First Baptist church there will be services this morning at 11 and this evening at 7. At both the pastor will preach.

Tuesday through Friday there will be Passion Week services. On Tuesday evening, the Rev. H. Wymann Malmsteen, of Bethel College and Seminary, St. Paul, will be the speaker at a service sponsored by the Young People.

At the First Lutheran church services will be at 10:30 this morning and the following order of service has been arranged:

Prelude, "Hosanna," Granier, Mrs. Carl Olson.

Processional, members of all the choirs carrying palms, "O How Shall I Receive Thee?"

Opening Sentence by the Choirs. Gradual hymn, "O Lamb of God Most Holy."

Anthem, "Jerusalem," Parker, First Church Choir.

Offertory, "The Holy City," Foster.

Offertory Response, Choirs. Pulpit Hymn, "Ride On Ride On In Majesty."

Sermon, "Onward Toward Victory," Rev. Clifford Peterson.

Anthem, "Palm Branches," Faure, First Church Choir and Junior Choir.

Closing Hymn, "Hail to the Lords Annointed."

Benediction and Choral Amen. Recessional, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

At morning services in Memorial Methodist church at 11 today, the Rev. Glenn Kjellberg will preach a sermon on the topic: "A False Standard of Values," the choir will sing "Ride On In Majesty" by Crawford and "For Love of Thee" by Lorenz with "The Palms" by Faure as a prelude. There will be Baptism and reception of new members.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon there will be Lenten vesper services at which a movie, "Journey Into Faith," the story of the last day of Jesus, based on Luke 24:13-25 will be shown. At the Offertory there will be an organ-piano duet by Mrs. Carl Olson and Mrs. Ed Olson, Jr., and the choir will sing "The Hour of Life" by Ira C. Wilson. Patsy Heslip and Mary Lou Ward are in charge of the service.

In the Mission Covenant church there will be a unified service at 11 with sermon by Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom on the subject: "Christ's Final Visit to Jerusalem." There will be special music by the choir. There will be no evening service as an Easter program is being held at the Stone Anderson school at Ensign.

At St. Paul's Lutheran church the Rev. Theophil Hoffmann will deliver a Palm Sunday sermon and hymns will be sung by a group of fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Three Autos Stolen
On Friday evening

Three autos were stolen in Delta county Friday evening and Michigan State Police of the Gladstone office are working on the thefts. One was taken at Escanaba and recovered at Pine Ridge. A Pine Ridge auto was taken and later found abandoned at Flat Rock. Another auto was taken from Flat Rock and up to late yesterday had not been recovered.

It is theorized that the three thefts were work of the same person or persons.

ANNIVERSARYHenry VanDeWeghe
Married Fifty Years Ago Monday

Tomorrow, Monday, March 31, Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanDeWeghe, 716 Minnesota avenue, respected residents of Gladstone for almost a half century, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Plans for the day include a 1 o'clock dinner at the Ludington Hotel for immediate members of the family and open house at the family residence from 4 to 8 o'clock during which time friends may call to offer their congratulations.

Mr. VanDeWeghe was born in Belgium 72 years ago and Mrs. VanDeWeghe was born Ella N. Wismer 69 years ago in Canada. They were married in Cheboygan, Mich., on March 31, 1897 and one and one-half years later came to Gladstone where they have resided since.

After coming to Gladstone Mr. VanDeWeghe worked in the woods for a time, later was a cooper at the flour dock and for the past 30 years has been employed as a filer.

Upper Peninsula CYO Cage Meet Enters Semifinals, Finals Today

CASPIAN BEATS ST. PATRICK'S

St. Agnes Tips Channing And Iron Mountain Stops Kingsford

With every player sharing in the scoring, St. Cecilia's quintet of Caspian set the pace in first-round play of the Upper Peninsula CYO tournament at Bonifas yesterday with a 37-26 triumph over the defending champion St. Patrick five of Escanaba. Carletto, guard, topped the Caspian scorers with 10 points, garnered on four field goals and a brace of free throws. Cota, Escanaba center, however was the leading scorer with 12 points. The Caspian team will play St. Mary's and St. Joseph's of Iron Mountain in the semifinals at 4 this afternoon. The championship finals will be held at 8:30 tonight, preceded by the consolation title game at 7.

Marrucci Big Gun Immaculate Conception of Iron Mountain, co-favorite with Caspian in the CYO tourney here, advanced to the semifinals last night by beating Kingsford's American Marlyrs, 29 to 22, and at 2:30 this afternoon will meet St. Agnes of Iron River, winner by a 66-37 count last night over St. Rose's of Channing.

Kingsford and Channing, first-round losers, will play at 1 this afternoon for the right to meet St. Patrick's of Escanaba in the consolation championship at 7 this evening.

Marrucci was the big gun in Iron Mountain's attack, scoring 15 points as his team defeated the Kingsford quintet, Fedrizzi, St. Agnes forward, hit 11 buckets from the field and added two charity tosses to lead his aggregation to an easy victory over Channing, despite Tesziewicz's 24 points.

LIONS SIGN TWO MORE

Detroit, March 29 (AP)—The Detroit Lions of the National Football League announced today the signing of two more players to 1947 contracts, bringing their roster to 21.

They are Damon Tassos, 225-pound guard from Texas A & M and veteran of two seasons with the Lions, and Quarterback Ivan Schottel, who made his NFL debut last year after playing with Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

The Sports Parade

BY Jim Ward

The Olympic Games ski committee is to be congratulated for selecting the highly-respected Alf Engen, 39-year-old national open ski jumping champion, to coach the six-man 1984 American Olympic ski jumping team, three of whom are Upper Peninsula riders.

6 No skier in the United States is more qualified to train Uncle Sam's Olympic jumpers. Engen has the best record of any skier in the country in all forms of competitive skiing. He proved by his showing in Steamboat Springs, Colo., in the 1946 national meet that he is the type of man the team needs.

In that event, he captured the national open championship after twice breaking his skis, and he won the title on a pair of borrowed skis. He understands hill conditions thoroughly and all possible angles of the sport. All the tips he passes down to his cohorts will be followed to the letter.

Alf Engen was largely responsible for improvement in technique and style which enabled little Joe Perrault, Ishpeming, to overshadow efforts of the more-publicized Biella brothers, Walter and Ralph, this season. Ralph consistently beat Joe last year, but this year, Joe surpassed him, being the top American in three successive meets, starting with the national meet in Ishpeming and climaxing the season with the top spot in the Olympic trials March 22 at Hyak, Wash.

Perrault first came into the limelight when he leaped 248 and 261 to win the Pacific Northwest meet at Hyak in mid-February. From that point on, he was a marked man and he came through admirably.

Arnold Kongsgaard, Ragnar Baklid and other Norwegian jumpers at Ishpeming were outspoken in their praise of Perrault, whom they predicted would be the outstanding American competitor in the 1948 Olympics at St. Moritz. Perrault forged into this front spot only after receiving coaching in form from the late Torger Torkle and Alf Engen while serving with the 10th mountain division troops, Camp Hale, Colo.

What Engen did to polish Perrault's style, he will do to prepare other members of the team for the rigid Olympic test. He can be depended upon to look after the welfare of the American team in every respect, whether it be massaging a stubborn leg muscle or checking the upshot of the takeoff. He will be as capable a captain as Harald Sandvik, the Norwegian leader, and that is saying a lot.

The three Upper Peninsula riders on the team are Perrault and Ralph Biella, Ishpeming, and Walter Biella, who left Ishpeming for Iron Mountain when he obtained a fulltime job there. Other U. S. Olympic riders are the veteran Sverre Fredheim, St. Paul, Minn.; Gordon Wren, Winter Park, Colo., and Art Devlin.

ARCHERY MEET PLANNED HERE

Festival Committee To Meet At C. of C. Tuesday

Plans for the staging of the Hiawathaland archery tournament will be discussed at a meeting of the festival archery committee to be held at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, April 1. Members of the committee are: Walter Nelson, chairman; Vincent Martin, vice chairman; Elmer Johnson, Danforth; Carl Johnson, Vernon Ihlenfeldt, Escanaba; and A. Aley, Munising. Efforts will be made to attract some of the best archers in the Middle West to compete in the tournament to be held during the Hiawathaland Festival July 3 to 6. An outstanding exhibition archer also may be obtained to give a demonstration of bow and arrow shooting.

Michigan State Nine Tips South Carolina

Columbia, S. C., March 29 (AP)—Michigan State College's baseball team jumped into an early 10 run lead and then staved off late inning thrusts to defeat University of South Carolina, 13-7, here today. The triumph marked sweeping of a two-game series. It was the Spartans' sixth straight in Dixie and sent them on the road again to wind up their junket against North Carolina Monday and Duke on Tuesday.

Keith Steffee and Robert Roberts, MSC aces, divided pitching chores and, while both ran into occasional trouble, each managed to halt serious Gamecock uprisings.

Galveston, Tex., is located on an island in the Gulf of Mexico.

on the team. The others made the team through actual Olympic trial competition, but Devlin was named because of his known ability. He was Torkle's outstanding competitor and the reigning national champion until Kongsgaard won the title this year. Devlin could not compete because of a leg injury suffered in a 236-foot jump at Leavenworth, Wash., early last February.

When we asked in Ishpeming what chances the Americans had in the 1948 Olympics, Erik Lindstrom, the Swedish titlist, and Captain Sandvik replied simply: "We have many good jumpers in Europe?"

THIS and THAT—Crowded out of an overflowing sports page yesterday was this item of great interest to fight fans anticipating Tony Zale's next title defense: Marcel Cerdan, European middleweight champion, kayaked Harold Green, Brooklyn, in the second round of their scheduled 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden. . . . This Cerdan is living up to his advance billing and is due for a shot at Zale at which he might do all right. . . . Zale is getting old.

Gilbert H. Dods, the Flying Parson of the Boston A. C., set a new meet record at 4:08.5 Friday night in the seventh annual indoor Knights of Columbus track classic. . . . Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano have been guaranteed $200,000 or 60 per cent of the gate for a title scrap in the Cleveland stadium in mid-June. . . . Cleveland fight promoter Larry Atkins thinks the gate would reach a half million. . . . a cool half million, that is.

A repeat performance of the Northern Lakes league all-star vs. New York Broadway Colored Clown game in Rapid River Friday night will be in the Marinette high school gym at 8:30 Monday night. . . . The colored cages won 61-51, in Rapid River. . . . Chances are the Clowns will keep an eye peeled on Bob Ranguette, who won individual scoring honors Friday night with 10 buckets from the field.

The latest word from Marquette has it that Johnny Boyle, Escanaba, is tops in the Upper Peninsula Elks bowling meet with his 629 individual tally. . . . E. Larson, also of Escanaba, is tied for second with Alce Bertagnoli and T. Tronson, Hancock, at 621. . . . In the doubles, W. Curtis and T. Kibby rest in third place with a 1149 count. A. Klug and B. Perrin are in ninth spot with 1124 and Boyle and O'Brien are tied for tenth with 1121.

In the team events, Escanaba Five Spots and Escanaba Peddlers are second and third respectively, with 2889 and 2887. . . . The Escanaba Poker Hounds (a bowling team) are fifth with 2806 and the Escanaba Fenn Specs are ninth with 2770. . . . The Ironwood Gladiators occupy the No. 1 spot in the U. P. Elks team event with 2906. . . . Leading doubles team is J. Larson and M. Kiva, 1239.

Barron Shoots 2nd 67 To Take Halfway Lead At Charlotte

Charlotte, N. C., March 29 (AP)—Herman Barron, 37-year-old White Plains, N. Y., professional, often around the top money but seldom a winner, took over the 36-hole lead in the $10,000 Charlotte open golf tournament today with his second 67 for a 134 halfway total, 10 under-par.

A stroke back of him following the tournament's hottest round, a scorching 65, was Cary Middlecoff, 26-year-old Memphis, Tenn., dentist, playing his third tournament as a professional. George Schoux, the Californian who now plays out of Maroneck, N. Y., scored a 69 for third place at 136. Sharing fourth position at 137 were Willie Goggin, White Plains, a 71 shooter today, and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, York Pa., 70 today.

Leaders included: Chick Harbert, Detroit, 72-68—140, bracketed with seven others in eighth place, and Horton Smith, Detroit, 68-73—141.

Manistique Hub Will Play Trotter Quintet Tomorrow

Manistique, March 29—The Manistique Hub quintet will have its hands full Sunday afternoon when it tackles the Globe Trotters aggregation in the new Manistique gym. The tipoff will be at 2. The celebrated Trotters, one of the top colored teams of the nation, are currently touring the Upper Peninsula and putting on a great show wherever they stop. The game in Manistique is not expected to be an exception. Hub players ready for action are Berger, Thompson, Norton, Cournaya, Nol, B. Hellsten, G. Hellsten, McMillan, Martin, Holm and Rubick. Fans are reminded that no preliminary game will be played. John Mathews will officiate.

2 U. P. MEN ON U-M GOLF TEAM

T. Messenger, Houghton J. Bennett, Negaunee, Vie For Position

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 29 (AP)—Bert Katzenmeyer, newly appointed Michigan golf coach, is the only member of the Wolverine athletic staff whose team this season will be a Western Conference defending champion.

Under former Coach Bill Barclay last year the golfers managed to capture Michigan's only Big Nine title, and five letters from that winning squad are around for current competition.

Meanwhile, Katzenmeyer has looked over at least 79 candidates for varsity sports, and with such a large contingent of hopefuls he has decided to begin junior varsity competition for the first time in Wolverine golf history.

Messenger, Bennett His present squad, which will begin a five or six-match southern tour next week, is topped by the holdover lettermen, Capt. Dave Barclay of Rockford, Ill.; Ed Schalon of St. Joseph; Roger Kessler of Ann Arbor; Pete Elliott of Bloomington, Ill., and Bill Courtright of Ann Arbor.

Also, Katzenmeyer will take along John Janewold, 1945 letterman from Duluth, Minn., and Bill Ludolph of Chicago, The No. 8 man will be selected from a trio that includes Paul O'Hara of Detroit, Tom Messenger of Houghton and John Bennett of Negaunee.

The golfers' takeoff time for the southern junket is unsettled because of pending negotiations for an opening match April 6 with Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va.

Spartans On April 23 The rest of the touring schedule includes matches with Washington and Lee university at Lexington, April 7; Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., April 8; University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va., April 9; Duke university at Durham, N. C., April 10, and University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C., April 11.

On April 23 the regular session of the schedule opens with Michigan State College here.

The junior varsity schedule also includes home-and-home matches with Michigan Normal College, April 24 and May 8, and a 36-hole tilt March 26 with Bowling Green, O., university.

Rock Host To Globe Quintet Next Sunday

Rock, March 29—The Harlem Globe Trotters, rated tops in Negro sports, will play the Rock Co-op Oil basketball team at 2 Sunday afternoon, April 6, in the Rock high school gym.

This is the 17th season on the road for the colored quintet. Known as "clowns of the hardwood," the Globe Trotters have won 90 per cent of their games and have played before more than 1,500,000 fans. They have won nine cage tourneys. Rapid fire passing, fancy plays and trick shots are their specialties.

Members of the team are: Johnny Watts, of LaCrosse State Teachers college; Earl Pettigrew, Prairie View, Texas, college; Billy Scott, Morgan college; Wilbur Carter, Wilberforce college; Proctor Kirk, Milwaukee and Mickey McGrier, former member of the Toledo All-Stars.

CAMBRIDGE WINS

London, March 29 (AP)—Cambridge's heavier crew defeated Oxford by eight lengths in the 93rd annual boat race between the two schools over the flood-swollen Thames river, today.

Despite a misty rain, thousands of spectators lined the banks of the route.

Escanabans Hit 4 Firsts In U.P. Bowling Tourney

Wakefield, March 29—(Special to the Escanaba Press)—Led by August Gafner who went into the top spot in both singles and all-events, the Hansen and Jensen Oil company team of Escanaba racked up four first places in its bid in the Upper Peninsula bowling tournament here this afternoon.

With all members hitting well over 500, the Escanaba quintet hit 2,733 on games of 910, 923 and 900 for top spot in the five-man. Gafner hit 630 for first in the singles and added a high tally for an all-events total of 1,784, good for first by a wide margin. Eino Heino hit 572 for fifth in the singles. The doubles combination of Gafner and Harold Meyers accounted for the fourth first place garnered by the Escanaba leggers when they hit 1,094, and Arvid Isaacson and Heino tallied 1,055 for third high.

Kirby Leads In Women's Golf

Augusta, Ga., March 29 (AP)—Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta held the 54-hole lead by two strokes in the Augusta Women's Titleholders golf tournament today with a total of 228, in the face of a strong challenge by Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Zaharias who played the third round in a four-under-par 71, a new record for the event.

Mrs. Zaharias' 230 put her in a second place tie with Louise Suggs, Lithia Springs, Ga., who added a 38-37—75 to her halfway total of 155.

A stroke behind at 231 was Patty Berg, the National Open champion from Minneapolis. Miss Berg carded a 38-41—79.

Other 54-hole scores included: Sally Seale, Muskegon, Mich., 164-82—246; Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich., 162-88—250.

Wisconsin State League Approves 126-Game Season

League officials and representatives of the eight teams in the circuit have decided in Oshkosh to begin the Wisconsin State Baseball league season on May 8th with 126 games scheduled.

The meeting was called by loop president Herman White, of Eau Claire—who also is president of the Northern league. Other officers attending were secretary-treasurer B. M. Neary and vice president and Oshkosh club-business manager, Wally Bronson.

Eight clubs in the league sent two or more representatives to the session, termed the best meeting for some time. They agreed to permit each team to have 20 players until 20 days after the season opened. Then the teams must reduce the players to 15 except for the last 20 days when they can have 20 again until the season closes on September 1.

Teams in the Wisconsin league include Janesville, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Wisconsin Rapids, and Wausau.

Chase, Former Yank First Baseman, Ill

Colusa, Calif., March 29 (AP)—Hal (Prince Hal) Chase, 64, New York Yankees' first baseman in the first decade of this century and subsequently with other major league teams, was ill in a hospital here today and her relatives hold little hope for his recovery. "He's getting weaker," said Mrs. Lois Cloak, niece of the once-famous first sacker, who entered big league baseball with the Yankees in 1905.

Chase, who played his last ball game—a softball contest—in 1939 in his hometown of Williams, near here, became seriously ill a week ago from liver and kidney ailments. He had been in hospitals at various times since 1941.

In recent years his illness had affected his legs, and the man who once was an infield flash on the nation's major diamonds became just able to hobble about.

PIAN PONDER'S CERDAN BOUT

Sam Would Rather See Champion Tony Zale Fight Graziano

BY SID FEDER

New York, March 29 (AP)—Sam Pian, a good listener from Chicago, sat and listened for two hours today while the 20th Century Sporting club steering committee tried to talk him into signing Middleweight Champion Tony Zale for a title defense against European Champ Marcel Cerdan in Yankee Stadium in June.

Then listening Sam, who manages Tony, said he would make a counter-proposition to the steering committee between now and April 15. He wouldn't reveal what this was, but the general belief was it would involve a proposal for a title bout between Zale and Rocky Graziano in Chicago in June, and another between Tony and Marcel in New York in September.

The 20th Century steering committee consists of Counsellor Sol Strauss, acting director in the illness of Promoter Mike Jacobs, and Nat Rogers, matchmaker and chief worrier. They have been talking up a Cerdan-Zale fight for days, and the talk became practically a proclamation over a nation-wide hook-up today in the wake of Cerdan's two-round knockout over Harold Green of Brooklyn in Madison Square Garden last night.

Pian, meantime, has just been listening, because he is anxious to sign for the bout that will do the most talking at the box-office. He feels that Graziano and Zale, who fought one of the nose-mashing industry's all-time thrillers last September—with Zale winning by a knockout in six rounds—would draw more than Tony and the ex-French sailor. Graziano, however, can't fight in New York since his license was revoked for failure to report a $100,000 bribe offer he thought was a joke.

Pian estimates Zale and Graziano would do $500,000 in Chicago, and yesterday Cleveland Promoter Larry Atkins offered a $200,000 guarantee to put on the bout in the city on the shores of Lake Erie. At the same time, Pian also believes a Cerdan-Zale tussle would provide a generous pair of black ink, too, particularly from motion pictures which would be a hit in Europe where Cerdan could probably be elected to public office, he's that popular.

So listening Sam is heading back to Chicago tomorrow, after a week-long New York visit during which he saw Cerdan crack the crockery in Green's chin. But he promised he would sit down with Strauss and Rogers again before he announces his decision April 15. At that time, he no doubt will unfold his schedule of summer stunts—Graziano in Chicago in June; Zale in New York in September.

SEGURA UPSETS KRAMER

Tampa, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Francisco "Pancho" Segura of Ecuador today upset national champion Jack Kramer 9-7, 6-3 in the semi-finals of the Tampa invitation tennis tournament.

Only occasionally did Kramer show traces of his championship form. He served seven double faults in the second set and lacked the accuracy in his forcing shots necessary to gain the net.

COLORED CAGE STARS COMING

Globe Trotters To Play In Escanaba Next Thursday

The Globe Trotters colored basketball team, wizards of the hardwood, will play an Escanaba all-star team in an exhibition game at the junior high school gymnasium Thursday, April 3, it has been announced.

The game will be a benefit attraction for the city basketball league to defray expenses of operating the league during the past season.

Escanaba players, picked from the teams in the city league, will include Bob Dufour, Tom Dufour, Bob Ranguette, Jim Paine, Mickey Kuchenberg, Jim Pryal, Wes Hansen and Ed Gauthier.

Comprising the Globe Trotters, which have won more than 100 games already this season while losing only four, are the following: Johnny Watts, team captain, from LaCrosse State Teachers college; Earl Pettigrew, from Prairie View, Texas College; Billy Scott, of Morgan college; Wilber Carter, from Wilberforce college; Procter Kirk, of Milwaukee; and Mickey McGrier, of Evanston, Ill.

Tickets For Detroit Opener Go On Sale

Detroit, March 29 (AP)—Reserved seat tickets for the opening home game between the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians April 18 will go on sale at 9 a. m. this Monday and the Briggs stadium box office will remain open until 5 p. m. Available tickets are those remaining after mail reservations and block purchases by various civic organizations and luncheon clubs have been filled. General admission and bleacher tickets for the inaugural will go on sale at noon Friday, April 18.

Gladstone Baseball Team Meets Monday

Gladstone, March 29—The Gladstone Redskin baseball club will hold its second meeting of the year at 7:30 Monday evening in the Legion hall.

Discussion of the Rainbow league as organized last weekend at Marquette with a view towards getting player viewpoints on the type of schedule desired will be held. Plans have been made for a ten-team league. If a nine-game schedule is adopted things will be simple, but if it is stretched to 18 games it will be difficult to arrange for there are insufficient Sundays and holidays during the summer months, it was stated.

Naming of officers and directors of the local team will also come up for attention. Gene Short, Rainbow league secretary, is calling another meeting of the league to be held at Munising probably on Sunday, April 14. It was originally scheduled for May 4.

Local Baseball Fans Meet At 2:30 Today

A general meeting of Escanaba baseball players and fans will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city hall council chambers for the purpose of reorganizing the Escanaba Baseball association for the 1947 season.

The association will conduct the operation of the Escanaba Bears baseball team in the Rainbow league this season. The Bears played in the Northern Michigan Wisconsin league last summer but decided to yield that franchise in order to join the Rainbow league in 1947.

Other teams in the Rainbow league include Manistiquie, Gladstone, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Trenary, Chatham, Munising and Humboldt. The league held its reorganization meeting last Sunday at Marquette and plans to meet again on Sunday, April 4, at Munising, at which time the schedule for the season will be adopted.

Shift Still Bothers Williams In Training

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Sarasota, Fla., (NEA)—When you visit the Red Sox camp at this pretty winter quarters of the team, you talk and write about The Team that is Theodore Samuel Williams.

Even when he isn't hitting, Ted Williams is stern competition for The Greatest Show on Earth. Don't let anybody tell you Williams wasn't—and isn't—bothered by the Boudreau shift that was imposed upon by Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals in the World Series. Only the other day in Tucson, Bob Feller remarked about the toughness of Williams until the Indians concentrated their defense on the right in self defense.

Evidence that the trick defense is on Williams' mind came in batting practice here, when he really got hold of one and shouted, "Hit!" then added "No, not with the shift."

Williams remains home run crazy, operates on the theory that he is paid to smack the sphere out of the lot. When given his fat contract this winter, said to be for $70,000, he remarked, "I got that for hitting home runs," then, on second thought, appended, "but my batting average is my living too."

Williams is torn between the two. Everlastingly pulling and pressing for home runs lowers his average, at Yankee Stadium for example, where he didn't hit a lick all last season.

The Splendid Splinter might repeat his 406 of 1941 by hitting straight away, certainly by poking the ball into left field occasionally.

Danville, Va.—(AP)—A man drew a conviction for drunken driving and a fine of $100 here recently for piloting a car which was being pushed by a group of men. The police court judge ruled that by sitting behind the wheel and steering the moving car, he was guilty of breaking the law. He also was fined $10 and costs for operating the car without a driver's permit.

DETROIT WINS AGAIN, 7 TO 4

Boston Braves Stopped As Tiges Score All Runs In One Inning

Lakeland, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Rookies George Vico and Joe Erazut shone at the plate as the Detroit Tigers whipped the Boston Braves today, 7 to 4, scoring all their runs in one inning.

The Tigers ganged on Glenn Elliott, Braves recruit lefthander, in the fourth for six hits, including a double and single by Vico, first baseman, and a homer with one man on base by Erazut, catcher. The seven runs wiped out a 4-0 lead Boston had taken off Johnny Gorsica.

The Braves, here to help Detroit wind up the Florida season, took liberties with Gorsica, spanking him for nine hits in five innings. Dizzy Trout held the visitors to two hits the rest of the distance.

Boston and Detroit conclude competition here tomorrow. Boston (N) . 202 000 000—4 11 3 Detroit (A) . 000 700 00x—7 10 0 G. Elliott, Spahn (4) and Masi, Camelli; Gorsica, Trout (6) and Erazut.

National Celebrities Golf To Be Held In Washington

BY ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, March 29 (AP)—Bing Crosby may tee off with Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) for a golf partner. And Bob Hope may pair up with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

All this is the interesting possibility in a national celebrities golf tournament to be played at the Columbia Country club here May 17-18.

In addition to Crosby, Eisenhower, Taft and Hope (who still isn't a positive entry because of a conflict in dates), the celebrities will include:

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift. Babe Ruth May Play House Speaker Joe Martin (R-Mass.) and Attorney General Tom Clark.

The onetime baseball greats, Carl Hubbell and Babe Ruth, (Ruth may not have recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to compete, but he has said he'll be around as a spectator if not as a player).

Supreme Court Justices Stanley Reed and William D. Douglas. There also will be some people around who know how to play golf. They will include Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour. But they'll have their own tournament, and won't compete against the other big shots.

The tournament was announced tonight by Bus Hamm, sports editor of the Washington Post and chairman of a nationwide committee of sports writers and sportscasters.

vs. Juvenile Delinquency The object is to raise money for—and focus attention on—a campaign to get every youngster in the nation into some type of sports.

That's Attorney General Clark's idea. He's alarmed at the rapid increase in juvenile delinquency.

Leonard were the victims of the onslaught as the Redlegs broke a three-game losing streak.

Phil. (NL) . 701 001 100—4 10 1 Cin. (NL) . 402 001 20x—9 13 0 Rowe, Leonard (7), and Seminick; Walters, Gumbert (8), and Lamanno.

So he had the idea: If we could just get these youngsters interested in something, it might help to keep them out of trouble. He called sports writers and broadcasters in and tossed them the ball. The celebrities tournament will be their first chance to run a play.

The entry list is still open, Ham said, and several stage and screen stars are trying to arrange to attend.

The celebrities will play, more or less, 18 holes each day.

Californians Roll 1,210; Tops In ABC Meet Doubles Event

Los Angeles, March 29 (AP)—A pair of veteran Long Beach, Calif., keggers, Edmund Buiseret, 50, and Michael Debridget, 53, provided the highlights of the third day of rolling in the American Bowling Congress by zooming into the first place today in the doubles event with a score of 1210.

Landing in the money bracket of the annual classic is becoming a regular 10-year habit for Debridget, who finished 11th in the all events in 1927 and placed 9th in the doubles in 1937.

This afternoon Debridget tallied 501 on games of 183, 185 and 223, and his partner poured in 231, 161 and 237 for 619.

Another change among the leaders in the two man racket was effected by Robert Foley and Clare Laehr of Grand Rapids, Mich., who accounted for third place with a 1203 aggregate. Laehr contributed 620 on counts of 197, 234 and 189 while Foley flung 186, 191 and 206 for 583.

Clyde Littlefield is in his 28th season as track coach at the University of Texas. He will direct his 20th Texas Relays in Austin, March 28-29.
